FLIGHT HERO URGED FOR U.S. POST

Dr. Hugo Eckener May Be Sent as Ambassador to Represent Germany

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service.

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—A quiet but substantial boom has been started in certain official and business quarters for the appointment of Dr. Hugo Eckener as the next ambassador to the United States, International News Service learned today from exclusive and authoritative sources.

The hero of the trans-Atlantic delivery of the ZR-3 to the United States will arrive as a conquering hero, when the liner Columbus docks at Bremen Sunday. He will be feted by national and municipal officials, cheered by an adoring populace and entertained with banquets, receptions, parades and torchlight processions.

Seek Friendship

Informal feelers will be put out to Dr. Eckener immediately after his arrival and the wish to honor him by giving him the important diplomatic post at Washington probably will be touched on discreetly when President Ebert entertains the returning hero at a luncheon in his honor Wednesday.

The influential circles which are quietly preparing to advance the dirigible genius to the ambassadorship point to his feat with the ZR-3 as most important and fruitful in bringing the United States and Germany together in the old spirit of friendship and cooperation, making both nations forget the bitterness of war days.

HEAVY BUYING OF ST. PAUL STOCKS

Report Rockefeller's Getting Railroad Securities Sends Prices Up

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Sharp advances in the stocks and bonds of the St. Paul railroad system today accompanied reports that strong financial interests backed up by the younger Rockefellers were heavy buyers of outstanding securities of the company.

St. Paul has been termed the enigma of the stock market in the last few years, because of the weakness in the common and preferred stocks of the company. Heavy expenditures for electrifying a 500 mile stretch of track and large declines in gross income from carrying freight seriously interfered with the recent improvement and expansion of the facilities of the road. The St. Paul has been facing large deficits since 1918. The maturity of $48,000,000 bond issue in June 1925 also has added to the difficulties of the road.

Gold Exported to Keep Japan's Yen From Fall

TOKIO, Nov. 22.—Alarmed at the yen's decline, the government has decided to permit the exportation of gold as a means of strengthening the yen. It has also decided to use domestic gold reserves for the payment of interest on foreign loans and for naval supplies purchased abroad.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 22.—Harmann Heyes, the famous author, died here today.

Arbitration Puts End To Spain Mine Strike

ASTURAS, Spain, Nov. 22.—The strike of miners has been ended by arbitration.

Senator Walsh In Demand for Probe Of Sinclair's Tax

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—On his first appearance at the capital since his re-election, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat of Montana, the Senate's oil prosecutor, this afternoon condemned the handling of the government's case against Edward L. Doheny, and called for an investigation of the income tax paid by Harry F. Sinclair.

Walsh declared the Couzens' committee should inquire into Sinclair's payment of a tax reported to be less than $300, while able to swing great leases with the government.

RAIL STOCKS HIT TAKING PROFITS

Securities Pressed for Sale In Early Trading on N.Y. Exchange Today

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Stocks were pressed for sale in the early trading on the stock exchange today and prices declined in every section of the specialty list. Rail stocks were particularly hit.

Sears-Roebuck opened 6 points lower, at 133, but encountered good buying at that level and advanced a few points in the early trading. Cast Iron Pipe, at 133, showed a further loss of 4 points; American Can was down 2, at 148½; United States Steel and Baldwin declined fractionally, and losses of a point or more were recorded in a score of the active motor, equipment and industrial shares. Oils were irregular, but the volume of selling in this section of the market was small.

Favorable Statements

A good background for profit-taking sales was furnished by the uniformly favorable statements and reports on industrial and business conditions in the week-end economic reviews, the continuation of easy money and the reports of good progress being made in European rehabilitation and reparations payments. Many of the large commission houses have been cautioning against a too rapid extension of the bullish position in the market and advising profit taking, and sales from this direction were in fairly large volume today. It was also apparent that bearish traders were renewing their activities in both the railroad and industrial stocks.

Feature of Industrials

The forward movement in United Cigar Stores to a new high, at 58½, was the feature of the industrial list. American Woolen and American Sugar were reactionary, and Mack Truck declined a point on heavy selling. International Combustion Engineering lost a point following the announcement that new stock would be issued at 33.

Profit taking ceased abruptly in the second hour and the whole market was carried forward to higher price levels by the development of strength in Rock Island, St. Paul preferred and a number of the high-priced industrial leaders.

Rock Island bounded forward to 49¾, gaining one point; St. Paul prefererd went up to 29¾, for a gain of 2 points. American Can rose from 148½ to 151. Industrial stocks underwent a complete reversal of form, and oil stocks also participated in the advance.

While prices were advancing in this market violent upward movements were taking place in the listed bonds of the same companies in the bond market. The St. Paul 4¼s of 1925 made a gain of nearly 4 points, and up to 74¾, while the convertible 4½s and 5s gained about 2 points. Rock Island 4s sold 2 points higher.

Spectacular movements also took place in the bonds of the Chicago Packing House, the convertible 6s advanced nearly 6 points, to 59, while the convertible 7½s gained 6 points, at 61.

Stock sales today totaled 1,034,600 shares; bonds, $9,546,000.

Stock sales for the week totaled 12,393,000 shares; bonds, $104,074,000.

Harding's Widow to Be Given Military Honors

HUGE CROWD WITNESSES BIG GAME

Stanford and California In Annual Gridiron Clash At Berkeley Today

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service.

BERKELEY, Nov. 22.—Football again assumed its annual reign supreme today.

Business, politics and even marriage and divorce were forgotten as the hour rolled around for the annual "big game" between California and Stanford.

Northern California was literally football mad today. The greatest crowd that has ever witnessed one of the historic gridiron clashes of the two universities gathered early at Memorial stadium as if fearful that their coveted pasteboards would not gain them admission.

Record Crowd Attends

More than 76,000 people squeezed into the great bowl, and probably 25,000 more stood on Telescope hill above the stadium, and half a million more listened in on the radio.

After basking briefly in the limelight of public favoritism, Stanford entered the game as the traditional under-dog. Odds which slightly favored the Cardinals, shifted to even and then with the loss of Ernie Nevers by injury and the disqualification of Norman Cleaveland, the California Bears became odds-on favorites, some bets being placed at 10 to 8.

But Stanford supporters were not disheartened. Somehow—they knew not how—they expected "Pop" Warner, miracle man of football, to create a football miracle this afternoon and bring victory to the Cardinal colors.

Walter Camp Present

And California supporters, emerging from a period of nervous uncertainty, were equally certain that Andy Smith would pilot his Bears to another Pacific coast championship by defeating their only remaining contender for the title.

Everyone, from pop corn vendor to Walter Camp, dean of football, witnessing the teams play for the first time, and from the sweetest co-ed to the stern heads of the respective institutions, were agreed that it was going to be a "whale of a game."

An early haze overhung the field with a mild temperature that promised to afford nearly ideal football weather from the standpoint of the spectators. It looked to be a little warm for the football players to display their best. With their strong reserve forces this possibly could be interpreted as favoring Stanford a little.

Both teams remained in seclusion until almost game time. It is the practice of both Andy Smith and Pop Warner to season their squads early and ease off toward the latter part of the sea-

So, everybody, watch for Monday's issue which will contain the winners, their limericks, and, too, some of the other limericks entered in the contest.

APPEALS FOR RED CROSS IN DRIVE

Mrs. John Robert White In Statement Tells Needs Of Organization

The following statement regarding the vital need for support of the American Red Cross, as one of the fifteen participating organizations of the Community Chest of Glendale, whose drive for $50,000 is now on, is issued by Mrs. John Robert White, chairman of the local chapter:

"It must be remembered that the American Red Cross is a membership organization and that memberships are as necessary as money and must be kept up. When disaster strikes, the national organization must be ready to give immediate relief through its hundreds of chapters scattered throughout the forty-eight states and territories.

Always in Readiness

"As the official relief organization of the United States government, the American Red Cross must be prepared at all times to respond promptly and efficiently. It is therefore important that the value of this organization be not impaired in any way and in considering the appeal of the Community Chest for funds, the needs of this particular unit should receive careful attention at the hands of every financial organization with which the Red Cross chapters join in financing their work.

"The work of the Glendale chapter is done on conformity with the regulations and policies of the national organization. Assistance is given to ex-service men and women and their families. The work of the production department is all voluntary.

Junior Red Cross

"Through the Junior Red Cross, functioning in the public schools, a valuable channel of communication between the youth of all nations is established. This cultivates in the children of this country a mindfulness of less fortunate children in other countries. Every possible aid should be given the activities of this branch of the Red Cross service in an effort to better understanding throughout the world, for the time is coming when the present juniors will be seniors and will be among the leaders of their respective nations."

Display in Window

Mrs. White calls attention to the Red Cross display in the windows of Roberts & Echols, druggists, 102 East Broadway; R. M. McGee, dry goods, 612 East Broadway, and J. J. Schulte, druggist, 251 North Brand boulevard. These exhibits show the volunteer service being done by the organization.

Further information regarding the work and needs of the Glendale chapter, American Red Cross and of its relation to the other participating organizations of the Community Chest of Glendale, may be had by communicating with Mrs. John Robert White at 347 North Orange street, telephone Glendale 2106.

Wallace Talks at Meet Of Men's Brotherhood

William H. Wallace, nephew of former Lieutenant Governor Wallace of California, was the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Men's Brotherhood at the First Methodist church last night. Mr. Wallace spoke on education in connection with the observance of National Education week. A banquet, served by the women of the church, was enjoyed prior to the regular meeting at 6:30 o'clock. During the dinner community singing was lead by J. B. Clark. There was entertainment.

In Line For Cabinet Job

Here are three "candidates" for the position of secretary of state in President Coolidge's cabinet, should Charles Evans Hughes do the expected and resign. Above: GEORGE HARVEY (left), CHARLES B. WARREN. Below: ALANSON B. HOUGHTON. It is said that if Hughes resigns and if a vacancy occurs in the United States supreme court he will get the place.

Secretary of State Hughes To Resign His Position, Report at Capital

By JOHN T. LEWING, JR.
Central Press Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—A new departure is promised in the selection of a successor to Charles Evans Hughes as secretary of state. Mr. Hughes' retirement is expected to be only a matter of time. He wants to retire to his private law practice, but it is highly probable that he will be reappointed to the U. S. supreme court bench, which he left in 1916.

This new departure is the appointment of a man who has had actual experience as an ambassador of the United States. The leading candidates for the post, it appears at this time, are George Harvey, editor; Charles Beecher Warren of Detroit, and Alanson B. Houghton of New York.

Prominent In Public Life

Mr. Harvey, as everyone knows, or ought to know, was until recently the American ambassador at the court of St. James. Mr. Warren has been ambassador to Japan and Mexico and Mr. Houghton is now in Berlin as the American envoy. He formerly was a congressman.

The last several secretaries of state — Messrs. Knox, Bryan, Lansing, Colby, and now, Mr. Hughes, did not have any previous experience in handling American affairs of state.

Without reflecting on the great ability of Mr. Hughes, there is a feeling in Washington that the present position of the United States in foreign affairs demands the presence at the helm in the state department of a man skilled in diplomacy—and not the kind learned in Washington, but in the best of schools, London, Tokio, Berlin or Paris.

Kid McCoy Asks to Be At Mother's Funeral

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Norman Selby (Kid McCoy), pugilist and actor, today appealed to Los Angeles authorities to leave his cell in the county jail to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Mary Selby, who died yesterday. FIGHTING ELI TEAM TURNS TIDE OF BATTLE

Three Touchdowns Scored By Bulldogs After Gehrke Boots Oval Twice

YALE BOWL, NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 22.—Fighting back when defeat stared them in the face and the third upset of the Big Ten schedule seemed imminent, the Yale Bulldogs today scored three touchdowns after Gerhke, stellar halfback of the Crimson crew, had booted two goals from the field. The score was 19 to 6.

Harvard's scores were made in the first period, while Yale scored two touchdowns in the third quarter and added another in the final period. "Ducky" Pond starting the scoring for the Elis when he tore around left end for a touchdown. Scott kicked the goal. A few minutes later Kline went over on an off-tackle play after Yale had carried the ball down the field on plunging and passing. The try at goal fell short.

Pond and Kline carried the ball down the field in the fourth period after Hammond's punt went over the goal line. The touchdown was made by Kline after the two outstanding stars of the Bulldog team had ripped the crimson line to shreds on their march toward the goal line. Scott's kick was wide.

Played in Mud

The game was played before a comparatively small crowd, due to the incessant downpour throughout the contest. The gridiron was an equal mixture of mud and water. The heavy field made fast end runs almost impossible, and fumbles were numerous.

Gehrke, whose educated toe caused the Fighting Elis concern early in the game, was injured in the third portion and had to be removed from the game. He was hurt when Kline tore around right end for seven yards, being downed in the shadow of the goal post.

He took the oath of office this afternoon.

BANDITS ESCAPE WITH $100,000 IN GEMS

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Two armed bandits escaped with jewels valued at $100,000 today in a daring daylight holdup in a north side jewelry company. The gems were in two sample cases in the custody of E. T. Morris, a salesman for the John J. Braunstein Jewelry Co., New York city. Morris was standing in the store by his two cases, talking to the manager of the place. The two robbers walked in flourishing their revolvers, snatched the cases and fled.

CLUB PLANS TO BUILD QUARTERS

Members Vote to Put Start Of Fund With Local Investment Firm

Business finesse was demonstrated yesterday at the meeting of the Women's Athletic club at the Kopper Kettle Tea room, 328 North Brand boulevard, when unanimous decision was made to place the $200 nucleus of the building fund with a local investment company, in order that it may increase until it is added to a larger sum that will assure the building of a clubhouse, perhaps two years hence.

There were over forty club members present for the luncheon and meeting, directed by Mrs. J. H. Toal, club president. Report of the treasurer, Mrs. L. L. Craven, showed over $280 in the treasury, which will be increased to $380 by the sale of Christmas cards. From this amount the $200 investment will be made.

Several applications for membership were read, showing that there is a great demand among Glendale women for organized athletic activity. The club now claims over 100 members, all participating in gymnasium work or sports represented by the various departments.

Praise The News

Special mention of the splendid co-operation the club has received from The Glendale Evening News was made both by Mrs. Dick Michel, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Toll. They both expressed appreciation for space given the club in The News' columns, stating that much of the success of the club was due to The News.

Report from the recent benefit card party was given. Plans for a hike Friday, December 28, to Fern canyon, were told by Mrs. Farr, chairman of hiking. Reports were also given on tennis, golf, swimming and gymnasium activities. Dr. Harriet Farnham was appointed chairman of calisthenics. So popular is the gymnasium work proving that rumors are heard that the club will soon have its own basketball team.

The next meeting of the club is to be held Friday, December 19, at the Harriett Mae tea room. The affair will be a tea, featured by a business meeting and program.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

One last word on the subject of the Glendale Community Chest.

There are no religious differences to be considered here. In other cities church charities may benefit, but not so in Glendale.

There are many people in Glendale who were urged NOT to subscribe to the Community Chest in Los Angeles, the writer has reasons to believe from the attitude expressed by acquaintances.

But those same reasons do not hold true in Glendale. Everyone can give here if he or she will sit down for a minute and look over the budget which clearly shows the beneficiaries.

Incidentally, it is the easiest way to give to the Red Cross and the Salvation Army, which service men and disaster victims know only too well. You can designate your gifts, if you desire.

Los Angeles' water row, or rather the quarrel the Owens valley residents tried to stir, ended without bloodshed; but Oakland's milk war has seen two dairymen shot already. The Oakland situation gets two or three paragraphs, the Los Angeles case got columns of advertising.

As it has been tritely said, Los Angeles thrives on negative advertising; it actually spends less than San Francisco or Tampa, Florida.

Negative publicity, aptly illustrated by the song, "Yes, We Have No Bananas," is most valued by screen stars. They permit rumors of engagements—Charlie Chaplin and Pola Negri, for instance—only to later deny the widely spread stories.

Verily, this is a funny world.

If someone were to ask the writer how to succeed in becoming prominent overnight he would suggest the following:

Take the wrong side of every issue. Play the role of the toreador, or is it the matador or picador who waves the red shawl in a bull fight?

The foregoing advice does not work for permanent peace of mind, however, and if you value what small achievements you may have attained, be modest in that glory. Without detraction it may be said that William Howard Taft, who kept an even tenor in his ways, continues the fullest enjoyment of life as a former President and an honored jurist.

Mission Day to Be Observed at Church

National Missions day will be universally observed in Presbyterian churches tomorrow and the Grand View Community Presbyterian church, although not completely organized, will have two special services. A missionary program will be given in the Bible school. Rev. George W. Thomas, pastor of the church, will speak on "Making America Christian" in the morning and his night theme will be "Let There Be Light."

Public Library Helps In National Education Week

The privilege of being the school from which graduation never occurs, relates the library to the schools proper in a vital way, and makes it an intricate part of the program.

The library is especially obligated to the schools as a source of general information and supplementary reference work; however, its influence as a practical convenience after school hours and a study hall during the evenings are also a part of its duties. Collections of reference books are offered to the teachers when a special subject is being studied, as are also added privileges.

Parents are invited to cooperate with the library, by giving attention to the children's need of reference material and are also urged to investigate the privileges afforded to the children as well as the opportunity given to themselves for culture and social benefit.

The staff consider themselves hostesses to the schools during educational week. The juvenile room is gaily decorated with posters suitable to the occasion, and story hours are being conducted by professional story tellers from the Emerson School of Expression. Invitations have been extended to the various grades to come to the library for instruction in the use of same, and the library joins the schools in their spirit of service and co-operation during Education Week.

Liberal Education Is Found In Good Books

By ORLO BUCHHOZ
Union High School

"The true university," said Carlyle, "is a collection of books." Though Carlyle's statement is broad, it is undoubtedly true that the reading of books is an education in itself. There is something to be learned in every book, from Horatio Alger to William Makepeace Thackeray, even though it be only the author's view toward life.

However, to some people reading is a task, usually because the individual has not tried the books best suited to him. Stevenson said, "Not all men can read all books; it is only in a chosen few that any man will find his appointed food; and the fittest lessons are the most palatable, and make themselves welcome to the mind."

Probably all the individual's contact with books was of an unpleasant sort, and he had not had an opportunity to form the reading habit. Or, perhaps, the reader has not approached his reading in the right attitude. To quote Stevenson's words again, "In anything fit to be called by the name of reading, the process itself should be absorbing and voluptuous; we should gloat over a book, be rapt clean out of ourselves."

A book approached in this manner is bound to be interesting, especially if the book is in itself fascinating. I know of no better way to form the reading habit than to take a romantic novel and bury yourself in it. If it is absorbing, it will lead to another and then another, until the romantic field has been exhausted. By this time the habit of reading ought to be well under way. Your mind now will reach out its tentacles and enfold realism combined with the romantic. When this, too, has been exhausted, pure, unadulterated realism will follow, until your taste is so catholic that you can appreciate all kinds of books.

Poetry, fiction, essays and criticism will all be open to you. Every book will be something to be digested and the words of the author shall be weighed and winnowed, the bad to be discarded and the good to be retained for the mind to feed on.

Poor Youth Becomes Rich By Saving Cash

By EVELYN ELLIS
Colorado School, A-6

A poor little boy whose name was Pat Hale lived with his mother in an old house. Pat did not get much candy or money. One day he thought he would start a savings account, as he had saved a penny.

Pat did not know how he could work to get more money. There was a lady who gave him a penny for picking up a paper.

One day as Pat was walking down the street he saw a sign that said, "Boy Wanted," at an office. They wanted him to stack some papers, and would give him 5 cents. When he had the 5 cents he started to the bank, on his way he saw a popcorn stand. He stopped and was going to get some, but he thought how hard he had worked to get 5 cents. He saw many other things that looked good. He could hardly keep from getting something.

Pat finally came to the bank and was very proud of himself when he handed his money to the man. Pat became a very wealthy man and gave poor boys enough money to start a bank account.

Careless Campers Fail To Heed Safety Laws

By ETHELWYN KENT
Columbus School, B-5

Our family had been camping up north. It was the year of 1921. We were planning to break up camp and leave for home. There had been some other people camping near our site. On leaving, they carelessly left a large fire burning. The fire caught on some dry brush and began to spread.

We tried to put the fire out with the assistance of other campers. We soon got it out. What if they had been the last to leave camp, think of the damage it may have caused? This should teach us to practice Safety First at all times, and follow the A B C slogan, "Always Be Careful."

Education of Youths Is Greatest of Gifts

By BETTY BUDD
Union High School.

Cicero, the Roman, once asked "What greater or better gift can we offer the Republic than to teach and instruct our youth?"

The citizens of Glendale realized the ultimate value of a good education when they invested in a $1,000,000 high school building for the use of present and future generations. Without a doubt, Glendale's high school is one of the finest in Southern California.

The new building with its enrollment of 1306 students makes up the sophomore, junior and senior classes. The freshman class numbering 738, occupies the old Harvard High building. The combined faculty membership of the school is 109.

Glendale High is known to the colleges by the high scholarship standard. The school's system of honor pins helps to keep this standard. The giving of honor pins as a reward for distinctive scholarship was begun in 1913. The plan is to give some mark of distinction to those students, who, by their devotion to studies, keep up the average scholarship of the school. Honor pins are awarded for average grades of 92 per cent or more.

Glendale graduates are also upholding the honor of their school. The report in English entrance examinations has just been received from the University of Southern California. A total of 725 students took the test; eighty-two of these failed to pass. Of the thirteen Glendale graduates taking the examination, none failed and one passed with honor. This is a very creditable record for Glendale High and so far as is known is not surpassed by any school.

Safety Often Depends On Exercise of Care

By ARTHUR MEADOWS
Wilson Avenue Intermediate, A-8

Safety is not only a word. It sometimes means life! You are in an automobile speeding at fifty miles an hour, racing with a train—a curve is ahead—the engine crashes into the automobile—five dead. You are skating down the boulevard—you don't look in the opposite direction—the automobile speeds into you. One fatality.

A man in a hurry crosses the boulevard without looking right or left. An automobile hits him. One fatally hurt. A woman in a hurry steps out of the automobile—a truck comes at that moment. You know the rest.

A radio operator aboard ship in mid-Pacific, waits a minute to eat his lunch, the ship is sinking. Yet, in that time the only available ship within distance has passed out of radio range. The ship sinks with everybody on board. Five hundred lives are lost all because one man has been a minute behind time.

The express thunders along the one line railway, a minute behind schedule. It nears a station a mile from the curve ahead. The engineer rounds the curve, only to see an engine rushing towards him. There is a crash. Fifty are killed and ten injured in that accident all because a certain conductor's watch was a minute behind time.

Accidents are caused either by being too hasty or too slow. You may be hasty but not so hasty as to imperil life.

Value of Thrift Is Seen In Later Years

By MARIAN WATERMAN
Broadway School, B-6

Thrift is something that is worth a lot to everybody in this world. I have often overheard children and grownups as well say, "I wish I had as nice a bank account as he or she has."

Don't think thrift is only saving money. Thrift also means to be thrifty about clothing, etc. Now, the right and proper way to solve that problem is for you to get down to business. Forget you need something that you really can do without. Put that money in the bank account that will mean something in a few years to you. You don't have to have a large sum of money to start a bank account. A coin is a very good starter.

You don't have to become a tightwad to have a bank account. Nor don't be extravagant either. If everybody had the habit of saving and not the spending habit, everyone would be more advanced in this world. Now, my dear friends, remember what thrift is and what it means to everyone who follows it.

MAY WE SUGGEST THAT YOU DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY — AND WHENEVER POSSIBLE SHOP IN THE MORNING—THANK YOU.

PLAYERS FINISH COMEDY TONIGHT

'Adam and Eva' Succeeded By 'Mamma's Affair' on Dobinson Bill

"Adam and Eva" the sparkling comedy which the Dobinson Players will present for the last time tonight at the club playhouse has been greatly appreciated by the audiences who have witnessed the performance. The company is of fine calibre, and no better group of professional players has been seen than this company which Florence Dobinson has chosen with personal care in order that a standard might be set.

Intelligent people have come to the conclusion that the time has come when the spoken drama is an essential part of necessary entertainment. To the youth of this generation it is an educational process of real value which cannot be overlooked.

The next production, "Mamma's Affair" which will be presented beginning with the Wednesday matinee, is one of the finest comedies that has been written. Gertrude Kellar and Joseph McManus will be the featured players. Other members of the cast will be william H. Stephens, Mary Isabelle Alpaugh, Thyra Ruhland, Laura Winston and Richard Ehlers.

Hold District Rally For Epworth League

Sub-district rally of Epworth Leagues of Methodist churches in the San Fernando valley was held at the First Methodist church in Glendale Wednesday night 125 persons being present. A banquet was served at 6:30 o'clock by the Ladies' Aid society of the church, tables being arranged for each Epworth league. Dr. A. Ray Moore, district superintendent of Epworth Leagues, gave a talk on "Win My Chum Week," which is being observed by Epworth Leagues this week. Representatives from Glendale Methodist churches, Montrose, La Crescenta and Eagle Rock were present. Presidents of all leagues represented gave talks.

Young People Hold Study Period at Home

Nazarene Young People's society held a meeting Thursday night in the home of Miss Ollie Crumpler, 300 East Garfield street, about fifty persons being present. Rev. Henry Scheideman read the scripture and conducted the study period. Vernon Wilcox is president of the class. Mrs. Scheideman gave an interesting talk on "Missions," reporting a meeting which she attended at the Nazarene church in Los Angeles Wednesday. Ice cream and cake were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Scheideman and her Sunday school class.

U. S. C. ALUMNI IN ROUSING MEETING

Glendale Chapter Elects Officers and Arranges For Big Rally

Glendale alumni and former students of the University of Southern California were brought together last night at a rousing dinnera rally at the Glen Inn, South Brand boulevard. Frank Hadlock of the class of 1924, assistant alumni secretary, was the speaker, giving a talk on U. S. C.'s part in breaking athletic relations with the University of California and Stanford.

The Trojan club of Glendale unanimously approved of the stand taken by U. S. C. and voted confidence in Coach Elmer C. Henderson.

Election of officers resulted in James Musatti '23 being chosen president; Mrs. Howard L. Butterfield '17, vice-president, and Robert E. Rowley '23, secretary-treasurer.

Another Big Rally

Plans were made for a big rally, Monday, December 1 in Glendale, to reorganize the U. S. C. alumni for home coming days December 6 and 7.

Announcement was made that tickets for the U. S. C.-Syracuse game are available at the graduate manager's office.

All former Trojans in Glendale and vicinity are urged to send their names and addresses to the secretary, Mr. Rowley, 334 Vine street, Glendale 1082-J.

France Noncommital On Conference Meet

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Spokesmen for the French government refused today to answer officially a hypothetical question as to whether France would accept an invitation from another arms conference at Washington if England rejected the Geneva protocol.

The attitude of France has been considered a stumbling-block in the way of assembling another such conference.

Premier Herriot and Henry Juvenal in statements at Geneva declared it was impracticable for statesmen from Europe to go so far from home when a conference might "just as well be called at Geneva or The Hague."

If the Geneva protocol be rejected, however, the French government will consider it useless to call another disarmament confreence, it was said, and will seek security in private treaties between nations.

Merchant Truck Afire Calls Out Department

A Harris & Hull truck caught fire at 5 o'clock last night, at the corner of San Fernando road and Grand View avenue. The blaze, which is believed to have been caused by a short circuit, was extinguished by the Glendale fire department. Chief A. H. Lankford places the damage at $10.

SALE OF CORNER PUTS UP RECORD

Site at Glendale Avenue And Seneca Figures In All-Cash Trading

The sale of the northeast corner at Glendale avenue and Seneca street, declared to be the largest single transaction in property in that vicinity on record, was announced today by Tugman & Wilson, real estate dealers, at 3405 Glendale avenue. The property was sold for an all-cash consideration, it was stated.

C. J. Pelsener, recently of Cincinnati, Ohio, is the new owner of the property, which has a frontage of 92 feet on Glendale avenue, running back a distance of 148 feet along Seneca street. The Lusby Mortgage Co. of Glendale formerly owned the property.

Newcomer in Southland

Buildings on the site are the Seneca Pharmacy, Fair and Square Dry Cleaners barber shop and Sam Seelig market. All these have long-term leases.

Mr. Pelsener, the new owner, is a newcomer to Southern California, having been in Los Angeles only two months. He declared that, after an investigation, he has been deeply impressed with the prospects of the future in Glendale and the section in which he has purchased property.

England has an ice-skating craze.

SYCAMORE CANYON FLOOD WATER TUNNEL URGED

VETERAN IN AIRWAYS SPEECH

One-Time Winner of Bennett Balloon Cup Tells of Great Future

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Nov, 22.—"Airways will do for aviation what highways have done for motoring."

That was the statement of Col. Frank P. Lahm, veteran aeronaut and chief aviation officer for the Ninth army corps with headquarters in San Francisco, who addressed the Association of the Army here last night at the City club.

Paying high tribute to interest in aviation in the southland he said Clover field had more flying by reserve officers than any other army station last year. Incidentally, the 478th squadron stationed at that field took high honors for its performance during recent contests.

Balloon Trophy Winner

Prior to the showing of four reels of motion pictures illustrating the development of aviation from the invention of the heavier than air machines by the Wright brothers, Colonel Lahm said the United States must have its aircraft industry in time of peace because of the constant innovations and inventions changing the mode of flying and operation, and America can have an aircraft industry only if it has commercial aeronautics.

Colonel Lahm was the first American to win the James Gordon Bennett balloon trophy nearly a score of years ago. He frankly told of American manufacturers' colossal failure in the world war to produce planes as promised, but the development of the Liberty motor was an achievement which was worthy of the effort.

A plea for the Winslow bill, which Congress has twice failed to pass, or similar legislation which will regulate aeronautics, was made by the colonel as well as Captain T. C. Craven, U. S. N.,

Grandfather Tells Of Shenandoah Trip And Dining Service

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Captain Townsend C. Craven, U. S. N., commander of the North Island flying field, where the Shenandoah rested on her epochal trip to the coast, claims a world record which he revealed to members of the Association of the Army.

"I am the only grandfather, to my knowledge, who has flown across the state of Texas in a navy ship," referring to the dirigible which he accompanied to Fort Worth.

Speaking of his experience aboard the air liner he said the menu consisted of soup and eggs, boiled soft or hard, on the little gasoline stove, and sandwiches. "I found I didn't care for sandwiches after the second day."

"They had the only flying cook in the navy aboard and he was some cook. He could walk the straight and narrow path, eight inches wide, through the ship from cabin to cabin, with a bowl of soup in each hand and never drip a drop."

After praising the Shenandoah as the greatest achievement in American aviation he suggested that inasmuch as it was impractical for it to compete in commercial transportation with the railroads it might be used for hurried trips to Havana.

School Visitors Reach High Total for Week

The number of visitors at Glendale city schools, in connection with the observance of National Education week, reached the high water mark yesterday, when a total of 2040 persons paid visits. Totals for the number visiting the schools, given out from the board of education offices today, showed Wilson Intermediate to be out in front by a wide margin, with 640; Grand View, 201; Columbus, 186; Central, 161; Glendale Avenue, 152; Cerritos, 140; Acacia, 124; Pacific, 111; Colorado, 103; Broadway, 100; Doran, 76, and Magnolia, 46. Grand total for the week at all the schools was given out as 3736 by Superintendent Richardson D. White. He congratulated the children and teachers for their splendid enthusiasm, and the parents for the interest taken in National Education week.

100 PER CENT MEMBERS SECURED

Each Person In Twenty Firms Has Made Donations To Community Chest

Twenty Glendale firms are now 100 per cent subscribers to the Community Chest of Glendale, it is announced by W. E. Hewitt, president of this organization, which is now in the midst of a drive to raise $50,000 to conduct the fifteen participating charitable and welfare organizations during the coming year.

Following is a list of the twenty 100 per cent subscribers: Owl Drug Co., Williams Dry Goods Co., Jesse E. Smith Co., Ford Agency; Dodge Agency; A. H. Dibbern, jeweler; Dr. Newton, optometrist; Sawyer & Bolen, realtors; Hamlin & Hepburn, subdividers; Colorado school, Columbus school, Glendale State bank, Brand boulevard branch, Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings bank; Glendale Hardware Co., Glendale Paint & Paper Co., Hanning's barber shop, Psenner Brothers' Electric Co., Valley Mortgage & Finance Co., Piggly-Wiggly Co., Glendale Grocerteria, Lewis Jewelry Co., Acacia school.

A 100 per cent membership in the Community Chest of Glendale means that each person in the firm has subscribed to the fund, Mr. Hewitt states.

Mr. and Mrs. Ballagh Now at Summer Home

Having rented their Glendale home at 308 North Louise street to Dr. and Mrs. Lincoln A. Ferris, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ballagh are residing at their summer home, "Ballagh Lodge," Santa Monica. Mr. and Mrs. Ballagh are keeping in touch with Glendale events through The Glendale Evening News, which they receive daily by mail.

St. Mark's Women Give News Thanks For Help to Guild

Mrs. B. O. Holbrook, who served as general chairman of St. Mark's Guild bazaar, Thursday and Friday of this week, has expressed to The Glendale Evening News appreciation for the co-operation given the affair. "The bazaar was very successful," said Mrs. Holbrook, "and the Guild members have The News to thank for much of the success. You were most generous in your publicity."

500 ENTRIES FOR BOOK CONTEST

Colorado School Pupil Wins Prize for Best Plate Design Judged

Enthusiasm of Glendale school children in the book plate contest held during the past two weeks by the maids and young matrons department of the Tuesday Afternoon club, was seen in the 500 sketches placed yesterday in the hands of the judging committee. The contest was open to children of the fifth and sixth grades of Glendale schools. Judges of the sketches were Mrs. Roy Ballagh, Miss Helen Buck and Claude G. Putnam.

At the close of a meeting last night in the offices of the board of education they declared Eleanor Gunther of the A fifth grade, Colorado school, winner of first prize; Marjorie Hopner, B. sixth grade, Columbus school, second prize, and Catherine Peck, B sixth grade, Cerritos school, third prize.

Special mention was given Bob Cory, B fifth, Pacific school; Jack Lambie, B sixth, Columbus school; Robert Boyd, B sixth, Doran school; Marvin Taylor, Columbus school; Virginia Mowers, B fifth, Central school; Cecilia Kelly, B fifth, Acacia school; Josephine Humphry, sixth, Cerritos school; Barbara Bell, B sixth, Columbus school; Carl Amussen, Doran school; Norma Richardson, B fifth, Grand View school; Charles Elliott, A fifth, Central school; Richard Paull, B fifth, Columbus school; Robert Clampitt, A sixth, Pacific school; Harry Priddle, A sixth, Grand View school; Jack Berry, B fifth, Columbus school; Edwin Murmann, B sixth, Columbus school; Edward Rohl, B fifth, Broadway school; Gladys Donovan, B fifth, Pacific school.

Glendale Music Club Has Russian Program

Program of Russian music was presented last night at the meeting of the Artists' department of the Glendale Music club at the home of the chairman, Miss Gertrude Cleophas, 337 North Central avenue. The program was given by Alexander Kosloff, Russian pianist; Miss Elizabeth Mottern, Glendale vocalist; George Shkultetsky, Russian basso; and Miss Cleophas, pianist. There was also a talk on Russian music.

Woman Knocked Down, Hurt by Passing Auto

Mrs. Anna Wilson of 133 South Cedar street received bruises and cuts when she was knocked down last night at the corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway by a car driven by Robert C. Paxton of 1370 Highland avenue. She was taken to the Glendale hospital, where it is reported today her injuries are not serious. According to Mr. Paxton, the accident occurred as Mrs. Wilson was crossing the street. Frightened by another car, she became confused. The other car was not identified.

A third of America's railroad equipment is used in carrying coal.

ORNAMENTAL LIGHTS ARE FAVORED

Stone Says City Will Save Money Adopting Plan Of Diederich

The adoption by the City Council on Thursday of a cast-iron ornamental street lighting standard designed by Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production, will save property owners thousands of dollars yearly, in reduced cost of installation, and will benefit taxpayers generally, by saving the profits on these standards for the city, according to Virgil B. Stone, city manager.

The type of standard designed by Mr. Diederich can be produced for $95, according to a statement made by Councilman S. A. Davis before the council at Thursday's session. The Union Metal type of standard, now being installed on Glendale avenue and other streets, costs $125, Mr. Stone states. This is a saving of $30 per standard.

Number of Standards

The Glendale avenue job calls for 211 standards. At this rate, the total saving, had it been possible for the city type of standard to be ordered for this street, would have been $6,350. This job was bid in by the city at $86,300, states Mr. Stone, or $10,614 lower than any other bidder.

"If the city can underbid competitors on installation, it stands to reason it can add another profit by supplying the standards as well, saving property owners large sums of money. The charge is raised that the city profits on these jobs, and will profit on the standard adopted by the council. If the the city can do the work cheaper and save the property owners money, it is entitled to the profit. A private corporation distributes its earnings to its stockholders in dividends. A public corporation passes on its earnings to the taxpayers, in betterment of plant, which is in fact the taxpayers' property." Mr. Stone, when asked what would be the first street lighting job to use the city standards, said "that is up to the council."

Firemen's Relief Club Plans Annual Dance

The Glendale Firemen's Relief association reported today that while a number of local firms have contributed to the fund being raised for the first annual ball, further contributions are being solicited. The ball will be held Thursday night, December 11, at 335 North Brand boulevard. A special feature of this affair will be music by Eddie Moniot's nine-piece orchestra, announced Captain J. D. Meyer of Station No. 1, who is chairman of the entertainment committee. Other features will include some snappy numbers by the Firemen's quartet, and refreshments.

The funds raised by the moderate admission charge and by the contributions from local merchants now being solicited, will go into the treasury of the association, Captain Meyer stated, and will be used during 1925 to aid sick or injured firemen. Last year the Glendale Firemen's Relief association spent $400 to help out sick and injured members.

City Employes Hurt In Performing Duties

Two employes of the public service department received first aid treatment yesterday from Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, following accidents while on duty. R. Farnsworth of 1235 Linden avenue was burned about the face and shoulder by hot tar, when a board broke on the Western avenue reservoir, as he was walking across. Harold Luce of 1016 East Broadway received two crushed fingers when the rear wheel of a tractor he was driving hit a chuck-hole. Both men are reported to be at their homes, temporarily incapacitated by reason of their injuries.

Caseys Plan Baseball Benefit Dance Tonight

Knights of Columbus will augment the fund for their baseball team at a benefit dance tonight at their clubhouse, 330 East Lomita avenue. Harry Manush, baseball coach, is chairman of the evening, and announced today that dancing will begin at 9 o'clock. Music will be furnished by Bud Minier's orchestra. It will be final social function at the clubhouse before Christmas.

Call to Meeting! Central Avenue! All property owners on Central avenue are requested to meet at 107 South Central avenue, near Broadway, Tuesday evening, November 25. Central Avenue Improvement Ass'n, Charles B. Guthrie, Pres.—Adv., 11/21-22-24.

This Pastor Sees Loaves So Performs Rest of Parable

BURBANK, Nov. 22.—Carrying out the biblical parable of the loaves and fishes as near as possible, Rev. H. O. Simmons of the Methodist church here, single-handed, furnished the dinner last night when the Victory Bible class of the church entertained the Crafts Bible class.

The morning before the entertainment, the question of refreshments came up. It turned into a problem, for, it was discovered that so far as the prospective dinner was concerned, only one dozen loaves of bread had been generously donated by a baker.

Mr. Simmons took a survey of the situation.

"When is this dinner going to be?" he inquired.

"Tonight," he was told.

"Have the bread sliced and buttered at 7 o'clock tonight," he said, and disappeared.

Next seen of him, he was on a trolley car, fish pole on shoulder, and headed for Santa Monica.

All day he was gone, the while the rest of the plans of the entertainment were in progress.

At 6:30 o'clock Mr. Simmons returned. He cast twenty-six good sized fish into the church kitchen.

"Go ahead with your feast," he said. "Where there's a will there's always the way. The Lord provides."

Building Trade Crafts Get Together Tonight

A mass meeting of all crafts in the building trades in Glendale is scheduled for tonight at 7:30 o'clock, according to an announcement by L. L. Byers, recording secretary of Glendale carpenters' local union, No. 563. The meeting will take place at 108 North Brand boulevard. All members of all crafts are expected to be in attendance.

Next Friday night carpenters' local, No. 563 will hold a social meeting when a variety of entertainment is promised. The last social meeting was such a success that it was decided to hold the affairs on the last Friday night of each month. The meeting will start at 7:30 o'clock.

CITY OFFICIALS TO ASK SUPERVISORS FOR BORE

Proposed Conduit Would Carry Surplus Into Verdugo Canyon and Thence to River; Plan Approved by Three Engineers

By a standing vote, a large audience, including city officials, Chamber of Commerce executives and prominent citizens from all sections of Glendale, pledged its endorsement and support to the plan of City Manager Virgil B. Stone for a tunnel to carry the flood waters of Sycamore and Scholl canyons into Verdugo canyon and thence to the Los Angeles river, at a meeting at Chamber of Commerce headquarters, 150 South Brand boulevard, last night.

The endorsement of the plan, as opposed to the completion of the Sycamore Canyon drive project, and the pledge of the citizens to join members of the City Council, City Manager Stone and officers of the chamber, when they appear before the Board of Supervisors at 10 a. m. Monday in urging the plans, came after three speakers, all engineers, had given the tunnel the stamp of approval and urged its adoption, instead of the letting of bids on further improvement of Sycamore Canyon drive. The speakers were Mr. Stone, "father" of the tunnel plan; Edward M. Lynch, Glendale engineer and former city engineer and street superintendent, and William C. Wattles, engineer for the Ttitle Trust & Insurance Co., and at one time city engineer of Tropico.

When Mr. Lynch took the floor following the address of City Manager Stone, and, with but two qualifying "ifs," unreservedly endorsed the plan for the tunnel, the anticipated and much advertised storm which had been promised for the meeting faded into thin vapor and floated away. Harmony prevailed uninterruptedly throughout the entire session.

Preisdent W. E. Hewitt of the chamber called the meeting to order, reiterated his statement that the Chamber of Commerce had no intention of becoming a fly in the ointment, nor did he believe for a minute that the City Council was incapable of handling the flood control matter, he said, but that light and instruction were being sought. When Mr. Hewitt left later, George B. Karr, chamber director, presided over the meeting.

City Manager Stone reviewed the history of the flood control plans of the county and the recently voted bond issue. He presented maps, blueprints and many figures in support of his contention favoring the tunnel plan. He declared that the tunnel was making it possible to eliminate entirely and for all time one flood menace in the city of Glendale, that it was disposing of the Sycamore canyon water by the shortest possible route, and that the cost of the tunnel would fall far short of the amount necessary to finish the Sycamore Canyon drive project.

Below Lowest Bid

Total cost of the tunnel would be $263,630, he declared, as against $285,870,, the lowest bids on the canyon drive work. The $22,240 saved by the construction of the tunnel, in addition to $214,370 which is also available and actually on hand, will be used to immediately improve the Verdugo wash, so that its carrying capacity will be greater than its present capacity plus four times the capacity of the tunnel which will empty into it, giving a margin of safety of nearly 75 per cent, the city manager said.

Mr. Stone concluded by urging a large representation of citizens when he and the council go before the Board of Supervisors next Monday morning to make final plea for the tunnel. Mr. Stone, while agreeing that the plan of Peter Ferry for a double highway along Verdugo wash was a laudable one, declared it would be impractical until such time as the headwaters of both Verdugo and Sycamore canyons are dammed up and

AMERICA DOES NOT NEED—
Bigger cities, but cities with a bigger vision.
Church union as badly as united action by the churches.
Better houses, but homes which build enduring character.
Faster cars, but drivers who can keep to the right.
More powerful radios, but more messages worth broadcasting.
More freedom of speech, but more thinking before speaking.
More chances to make fortunes, but more men able to manage them.

INTELLECT AND EMOTIONS

That our intellectual life has progressed at a more rapid rate than our emotional development is the statement of one, William Van De Wall of Pennsylvania, and there is perhaps more truth than poetry in his assertion. The prevalence of all kinds of crime indicates that primitive emotional instincts are at work; that twentieth century intellects are obeying caveman-period emotions. Whether or not we believe we are descended from brutes, we are sure that we have brute natures which through long generations we have more or less learned to repress. But this sitting on the lid of our emotions has not been so successful considering the distance we have traveled intellectually from primitive beliefs.

A. Washington Pezet in the Forum expresses a similar idea when he says, "Each day records a new invention or discovery which will, in some way, either great or small, further transform our environment and create new problems of adjustment. The things that have been touched by the magic wand of science are alive and moving forward at an ever-accelerating speed; those that have not are stagnant. Industry, agriculture, surgery, navigation, transportation, communication—these things and many others have advanced more in the past century than in the preceding six thousand years. But politics, laws, morals, customs and religion have remained comparatively stagnant. Throughout the entire period of modern history our material advance has been incomparably greater than our spiritual advance."

REFORMERS

Experience has shown that the one who truly endeavors to adjust himself to the various duties of life and to keep himself in tune with the world is not spending his time trying to reform others. The professional, would-be reformer is usually one who has failed in his own sphere of life. There are very few great and successful reformers because it is so difficult to make others do what we ourselves have not done, and it is only those who make a success of their own lives who can suggest practical and workable schemes for the betterment of the world and help to work them out. Many who would make good reformers are too busy with their own lives to interfere with others and who will say that they do not accomplish as much by the example they set as they would in dictating a line of conduct for their fellow men?

It is a splendid thing to reform others, to initiate or to encourage movements to make the world a better and a happier place, but to be successful in such work one must first set his own house in order. And, to harp on one string, to insist upon conformity to one particular rule, while neglecting things of more importance, is not the spirit of the true and successful reformer.

THE PASSING OF THE ALLEY

An editor deplores the passing of the alley. City congestion and high land values have virtually eliminated what was once the playground of the small boy. The alley was a boyhood institution in the smaller towns and villages, but it has gone with other outgrown customs, and the city boy, never having known the delights of the alley, does not realize what he has missed.

Almost every man today has happy memories of the alley, where the youth of the neighborhood gathered to play marbles, baseball, sheep-all-out-of-my-pen, or whatever game happened to be popular at the moment. The boy who has never known the fun of playing in the alley has missed something out of life. There is a considerable army of men who, if they were boys again, would not trade the most elaborately equipped playground or all the marvels that are manufactured to amuse the modern boy for the joys of the alley.

COST OF CRIME

Some statistician has figured out that the annual cost of crime in this country is more than the cost of the federal government. We are paying out for the expense of crime three and a half billion dollars annually that might and should be spent to increase production and promote the general welfare. We complain about the cost of government and the extravagance of officials, but we have nothing to say about the enormous sums that we are paying to thieves and swindlers, for the upkeep of penitentiaries and jails, the salaries of officers, the expenses of trials, and so on.

In spite of our much vaunted civilization and enlightenment, we are going at this matter in the wrong way. It is ridiculous to spend so much money for the expense of crime when it would go so much further and have more lasting results in preventing crime.

BLOCS ARE ELIMINATED

One good result of the recent election emphasized editorially by many newspapers is that political blocs have been eliminated for the time being; that those groups whose object was to bring about class legislation, even if through this the welfare of the masses was disregarded, have been silenced for the present at least.

Granting the necessity of some remedial measure in the interest of the farmer, it must be admitted that the farm bloc in the last legislature accomplished nothing, and election results show that the farmers of the middle west did not reward those who were supposed to be working in their behalf. This was because, according to one editor, "it has been made clear to the farmers that by no method yet discovered can prosperity be manufactured by simply passing a law."

THANKSGIVING CHEER

There will not be very many families in want in this section of the country on Thanksgiving day, a condition for which to be devoutly thankful. Glendale is a fortunate community, in one of the richest and most beautiful spots in the world, and we have great reason for gratitude and rejoicing. Because of this we cannot afford to overlook the opportunity to help make the day one of real Thanksgiving for everyone. It is so easy to give a little assistance to those charitable and philanthropic organizations who look after the poor at the holiday season, and it ought to make our own Thanksgiving feast more palatable to know that we had helped to provide for someone less fortunate.

SAVING US THE TROUBLE

The Old-Time Religion

By DR. FRANK CRANE

In a sermon by Rev. Halford E. Luccock, he insists that the trouble with the old-time religion is that it is not old enough.

"Give me the old-time religion,
It is good enough for me!
It was good enough for Moses,
It was good enough for Father,
It was good enough for Mother,
And it's good enough for me!"

What people usually mean by the old-time religion is that they do not want to be disturbed. They want to retreat into the old conventionalities and have nobody stir them up.

The essence of religion, however, is revolution. It is doing something opposed to convention and backed only by conscience.

The religion of Moses which is sung about was not that of mildly sitting down, under Egyptian conditions, but in doing something adventurous and brave.

Abraham had the same kind of religion.

Paul and his companions were accused of turning the world upside down. A man cannot have real religion unless he revolts at the requirements of convention and habit, which clamp down the rest of the world.

Religion is something that removes a man from custom and habit and makes him a creature of conscience only. It is a disturbing factor. It is the element of progress.

It is, and always will be, a protest against things as they are and a going back to first principles.

If, therefore, a man has the old-time religion, the religion of Moses and Abraham and other worthies of ancient history, he has something that makes him independent and courageous and adventurous, something that makes him depend more upon the cosmic laws of the universe and his conception of God than upon the law of custom and the traditions of man.

Religion is the oldest thing in the world and it is also the newest thing in the world.

It is like water that has flowed for many a year and is continuing to flow. It means an ever-present inspiration for an ever-present need. It is not something that can be crystallized in the past, but something that is ever new and fresh for the future.

Horoscope

The sun in benefic aspect dominates this day, according to astrology. Neptune is adverse.

Again the planetary direction is most auspicious for all who desire to find their right niches in life.

It is a favorable rule for all who seek work and should bring success, although there is danger of expecting too much from fate.

All who hold the reins of power have the best possible outlook while this configuration prevails, for they will be exceedingly popular with many who desire to benefit and will have much food for vanity.

While persons in the Sun are enjoying the privileges that their good stars have showered upon them, it is probable that they will arouse jealousy and envy.

While this sway prevails the strongest personal sense may be prevalent and that means extreme selfishness will be manifested.

There may be a serious slump in oil interests, or at least warning that satisfactory conditions may change.

While the aspects appear to indicate that workers will be fortunate as the year ends, there is likely to be much sickness among all the people.

A noted naval or military officer will end his career rather suddenly before 1925, astrologers foretell.

International affairs should be satisfactory at this time, even though clouds are said to be gathering.

The moon today is in Libra, a movable masculine sign ruled by Venus. Educators, bankers, lawyers and all who deal with the public should benefit.

Newspapers and publishers should be exceedingly careful in financial matters, as there is a sway that bodes changes in all business affairs relating to them.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year that is generally satisfactory. They should be careful to avoid accidents.

Children born on this day will be of a cheerful and contented disposition.

Who's Who

The last official request made of President Coolidge by the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was recognized recently by the president when he appointed another scion of the Roosevelt family—Senator Theodore Douglas Robinson of New York—assistant secretary of the navy, where he follows his cousin, Theodore Roosevelt, jr., who resigned recently to become a candidate for governor of New York.

In addition to father and son, another Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Democrat, was assistant secretary of the navy. That was in the Wilson administration.

Senator Lodge made his request by letter from his sick bed in Nahant, a few days after Col. Roosevelt had resigned, to follow, as he hoped, the political path of his father, who had gone from assistant secretary of the navy to governor of New York after the Spanish war.

Robinson is the son of Douglas Robinson and Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson, a sister of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, the elder. He was born in New York City, April 28, 1883, was graduated from Harvard in 1904, and for many years lived at Mohawk, Herkimer county.

He was a member of the New York assembly in 1912 and 1913 and a member of the state senate from 1916 to 1924. He was chairman of the New York state Progressive committee from 1912 to 1914.

Smiles

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Private Ruff, overseas, had taken unto himself as wife a pretty mademoiselle, but on his return to the states the romance did not prosper and the bride returned home, announcing she would sue for divorce.

"I suppose you feel pretty badly about it," consoled a friend.

"I dunno, at that," replied Ruff. "It seems sorta good to get back to pre-war conditions."

THE GLOBE TROTTER

Down in a small southern town a motorist stopped at a shack to seek directions to the next village. A lanky youth ambled to the door.

"Boy," asked the tourist, "how far is it to Hickham?"

"Waal," drawled the youth, "I don' rightly know. But I'll call Jed. Jed's traveled all over, Jed has. Jed's got shoes."

AND NO SECONDS

The bright young man was making an application for his bonus.

"How much service did you have?" asked the clerk.

"No service at all," replied the b. y. m. in disgust. "I was only a corporal and had to wait on myself."

HANDICAPPED

Pest: "How unfortunate! Here I am at the movies and without my throat lozenges."

Guest: "I didn't know you had a cold."

Pest: "I haven't. But my throat gets so irritated reading all the subtitles."

COINCIDENCE

Tobe: "See hyah, woman! Didn' Ah see yo' kissin' a no-'count piece o' trash las' night?"

Liza: "Gwan, Tobe. It was so dark Ah thought it was yo'."

Tobe: "Come to think on it mebbe 'twas me—what time was dat?"

TERRIBLE, TERRIBLE

First Hobo: "The service on this railroad is rotten."

Second Bum: "Sure is. The other day the blame train started just as I was jumping for the cattle car."

MARKED DOWN!

Rose: "I can't understand why Gladys ever married a man in such reduced circumstances."

Marie: "She probably thought she was shopping, dearie, and just couldn't resist the bargain."

UNFAIR ADVANTAGE

Johnny: "Why did you quit working for that memory expert?"

Willie: "'Cause he remembered that all my grandmothers died last year."

THE SPITEFUL SKIPPER

Excited Sailor: "The ship is sinking! All is lost!"

Captain: "That's all right. Let it sink. There's a guy on board I don't like."

HARD TO MAKE

Flubb: "What's a plausible explanation?"

Dubb: "One that makes the wife sympathize with the sick friend you sat up with."

WHERE'S HIS BIG STICK?

Bobby: "Shuh, you needn't be afraid of that cop!"

Billy: "Why not?"

Bobby: "'Cause he lives on our block, an' his wife can lick him."

REQUIESCAT IN PACE

Mother: "Why are you sitting there so quietly?"

Willie: "I'm training to be a plumber."

PHILANTHROPIST—NO LESS

Ned: "Kind-hearted, isn't he?"

Ted: "Kind-hearted! Why, he'd even sharpen a borrowed lead pencil."

RIB TICKLER

"Has a keen sense of humor, hasn't he?"

"Rather. A banana peel all by itself will make him laugh."

MESSAGE RECEIVED

Caller: "Are you sure your mistress is out?"

Maid: "Sure, an' can't I believe me own ears?"

DAILY REMINDER

Duncan: "Were you ever disappointed in love?"

Jimpson: "That's a silly question. You know I'm married."

DISAPPOINTING

"How was the party?"

"Complete failure. Everybody got home by himself."

MODERN CHILD

Elizabeth: "Would it be too naive, mother, if I believed in Santa Claus just one more time."

Today's Poem

TREES

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.

A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed
Against the sweet earth's flowing breast;

A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;

A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;

Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lives with rain.

Poems are made by fools like me—
But only God can make a tree.

Roseben Apartments

The Roseben Court at 122 E. Chestnut, 12 units of 4 rooms to each unit, built at a cost of $65,000. Proprietors, J. P. Atkin and Paul Browning.

The Roseben Apartments

The completion of the Roseben Apartments at 122 East Chestnut, marks a significant step in the building additions and growth of Glendale. For excellence of construction and quality of materials used, there is nothing in the city that stands as its peer.

From every point of view the owners, J. P. Atkin and Paul Browning hewed to their first determination to let nothing stand in the way of quality, utility and beauty.

The apartments rest on an area of 100x120 feet and consist of twelve units designed on modified Spanish architecture. The exterior is finished in California stucco whilst the landscaping designed and planted in harmony with the architecture gives a perfect setting to the beautiful structure.

Each unit combines four rooms, namely, living room, dining room, bedroom and kitchen, besides a dressing room that is daintily and completely furnished with a built-in dresser nattily decorated with a bevelled mirror. The warmth and comfort of the living room are enhanced by a radiant fire that sets in a tile fireplace.

The electric fixtures do justice to the general interior decorating for they are the finest obtainable having been installed by the well known house of Machtolf & Doll. There is a very fine built-in buffet. The bath room is in tile with a shower, also with continuous hot water from the instantaneous heater. Other features of the Roseben Apartments are in-a-door De Luxe beds, ice water, refrigerators, laundry facilities, celilex roofing, twelve inch space between floors to deaden any sound, wiring for telephone and radios, royal gas ranges, disappearing furniture in breakfast nooks, garages with exceptionally large yard space, cupboards galore.

They are now open for inspection and occupancy. The building complete cost $65,000.

ATKIN BECOMES HEAVY REAL ESTATE BUYER

J. P. Atkin joint owner with Paul Browning of the Roseben Courts has been a resident of the state of California for forty- one years, being owner at one time of the Sacramento Baseball team which came within an ace of winning the pennant in the Pacific Coast League after he had been at its head for twelve months.

Mr. Atkin, who is now manager of the Tiajuana Race Track is an extensive property holder both in Glendale and Los Angeles, he only recently purchasing a block between Second and Third on Western Avenue valued at $205,000.

His faith in the future development of Glendale is exemplified in the splendid apartment house he has, along with Mr. Browning, built on East Chestnut.

Landscaping By David L. Hanson

Credit for the splendid landscaping on the Roseben Courts is due to David L. Hanson landscape gardener of 111 East Chestnut Street. This fine demonstration of his professional skill is only one of many works of real art that register Mr. Hanson's skilled hand in this city. For instance he completed the almost famous landscaping at 224 Rossmoyne that cost $6000. Mr. Hanson is kept constantly busy and anticipates continued prosperity for Glendale.

Electrical Work By Machtolf & Doll

The able work of Machtolf & Doll is to be seen in the electrical installations in the Roseben Courts. This well known house that is growing in business scope with each succeeding year of their business life is responsible for some of the finest electrical fixture construction in Southern California and the Roseben job is one of them.

The fixtures are excellent to say the least and the general layout does credit to the care and skill of this house of electrical contractors.

Court Is Named After Great Horse

"That is the picture of the famous race horse Roseben," said Mr. Paul Browning pointing to a painting of the fine horse that evidently holds a kind spot in his heart. "We have named our apartments after him. He was a top notcher in his time. A champion sprinter and he could carry the weight, I want to tell you." The picture hangs in Mr. Browning's apartment in the Roseben Courts on East Chestnut.

Mr. Browning, who with Mr. Atkin built the Roseben Courts, sees in Glendale great possibilities, and is one of the city's foremost boosters. He has been in the concession business for years handling for instance the concessions in Glendale's ball park. He is also handling the concessions on the Tiajuana Race tracks.

George Staub Does Court Cement Work

"There is no less than 8000 feet of flat cement work and 250 feet of cement steps in the Roseben Courts, said Mr. Geo. F. Staub, cement and concrete contractor on the Roseben Courts. "We used a carload of cement. It was a fine big job and it finishes the fine courts off in good shape." Mr. Staub, who has been foreman for the Roy L. Kent Co., for 12 years, is one of the big cement contractors of Glendale. He handled the work on the Harrower Clinic.

House Thieves Busy In Glendale and Verdugo

Burglars last night entered two houses in Glendale and one in Casa Verdugo.

Mrs. Edith Kerneghan of 309 West Stocker street reported today a $400 sealskin coat, hand bag, suit of clothes and other articles of wearing apparel stolen.

F. W. Kille of 465 West Oak street, a printer in the employ of The Glendale Evening News, reported on returning from a theater at 11:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Kille found the house ransacked.

A residence at 1351 North Columbus avenue, Casa Verdugo, said to be the property of G. C. Slate, was burglarized. As this section of Los Angeles county is not within the Glendale city limits the Glendale police department notified the sheriff's office.

Celluloid combs are made of a combination of nitrated cotton linters and camphor.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA WONDERS MISREPRESENTED

BUILDERS TO KEEP BUSY FOR YEAR

Twelve Months More Seen In Boom Construction Before Let-Up

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Builders, contractors and building material men count on at least one more year of heavy construction before the country settles down to a steady basis of replacement and regular expansion. The war left a terrific building shortage in the United States. Heavy programs of construction have cut this down until by January 1 there will be a shortage which it will require about $4,000,000,000 worth of building to replace. If this year be taken as a criterion, the replacement of this shortage will require only about another 12 months.

The figures above were compiled as a result of a national survey embracing 528 cities. A little over two billion dollars must be expended to meet the requirements for residences in various towns through the country. Commercial types of buildings call for $1,130,851,000 and necessary public structures will cost about $870,270,000. This shortage is outside the needs arising from normal growth and improvement and represents the tagend of the construction program necessitated by discontinuance of building during the war years.

Normal growth is no inconsiderable item and should be sufficient to keep the construction industry from excessive worry for years to come. For example, nearly $800,000,000 will be spent during the next two years for churches, hospitals, charitable and educational institutions. This

Ten Billion Value Is Placed On Products U.S. Farms Turn Out

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The American farm bureau federation estimates that the value of American farm products this year will exceed $10,000,000,000, over $3,000,000,000 more than for the low year of 1922, but $4,000,000,000 less than the high mark reached in 1920. The estimates are that the farmers in the wheat belt from Kansas to Montana will have about 25 per cent more income and growers in the cotton belt about 5 per cent more. This trend, according to the survey, does not extend to the Pacific coast, where farmer income is estimated at 10 per cent less than that of last year. The tobacco belt, the corn belt and the western range states are believed to have secured at least as much profit as they gained in 1923.

Northwest Railroads Will Make Dividends

ST. PAUL, Nov. 22.—The larger northwestern railroads will earn their dividends and fixed charges this year despite the falling off in revenue during the summer. Greatly improved operating ratios are reported by executives today with corresponding improvement in net operating revenue.

Auto Sales In South Fall Below Last Year

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 22.—Sales of automobiles are under those of last year in this territory and there is no sign of immediate improvement.

CLAUSES IN CONTRACTS VITAL

Code Of Ethics Of Builders' Exchange Protects All Parties Interested

By HENRY MOLZ
Secretary-Manager of the Builders' Exchange of Glendale.

Construction activity within the past few months has done much to alleviate the employment situation in the building trades far from satisfactory during the greater part of the present year and from present indications bids fair to continue upon a satisfactory basis for many months to come.

With the continual increase in population that Glendale has consistently enjoyed and the resultant building activity again evident, it is reasonable to presume that the irresponsible, fly-by-night contractor will continue to ply his calling with renewed efforts and it behooves prospective builders in their own interest, to satisfy themselves as to the integrity and responsibility of the contractor before signing the building contract.

So alarming has been the construction situation in the past, that the honest and capable contractor has been hard hit in his endeavor to meet the un-warranted cut throat competition of these parasites with their slipshod construction methods, substitution of inferior for good materials, unpaid bills and the resultant filing of mechanics' liens, if indeed, construction operations were started at all; the fly-by-night in many instances simply dumped a load of unpaid-for lumber on the lot and on some pretext or other collected from the unsuspecting owner all he could and fled for parts unknown forcing the owner to pay for the lumber and stand the loss of the advance payment as well.

Assist Contractors

The Associated Contractors of America and the National Association of Builders' Exchanges, through their local branches, have done much to tie prospective builders in their business relationship with contractors to the reliable and competent of whom there are many both within and without these associations; and in this city, the Builders' Exchange of Glendale has functioned to educate prospective owners in their interest. Every member of the local exchange is pledged, 'voluntarily and sincerely', to render honest service to owners. Every member realizes the sound commonsense of getting together and staying together to create public confidence and good will in his business and in that of his fellow members in the exchange. Every member has been carefully investigated before being accepted into membership and all members must live up to a code of ethics that leaves no room for doubt.

The Builders' Exchange of Glendale is not, in any sense, a price-fixing association. All the exchange aims to "fix", is responsibility for faithful, dependable, intelligent service upon the part of its members. Each member is pledged to earnestly and faithfully try to do that. Every member is absolutely free from any obligation, in making prices for his work and in the conducting of his business; all are united to render fair and efficient service, to use the materials specified and to pay for them so as to leave the building when completed free from liens of any kind.

Prospective builders using the standard form of builders' contract should insert therein a clause providing for the prompt payment of all charges entering in the construction of the premises. The Builders' Exchange of Los Angeles with an experience of thirty-two years behind it recommends inserting the following clause for this purpose at the end of paragraph three thereof:

"The contractor agrees to faithfully pay for all labor performed and material furnished in the construction of the building out of the progress payments as and when such payments are received by the contractor from the owner under the terms of this contract.

"And it is further mutually agreed that the contractor shall receive each progress payment in trust and as a bailee for the express use and purpose of paying in full for all such labor performed and material furnished to such time as and when such progress payment becomes due under the terms herein set forth; and no title to such progress payment or any part thereof shall vest in the contractor until he has first paid in full for all such labor performed and material furnished to such time as and when such progress payment becomes due and payable."

A clause drawn by Attorney Henry Molz, secretary-manager of

PROSPERITY FOLLOWING ELECTION

Glendale Banker Predicts City Will See Growth In All Business

Glendale has reacted strongly to the Republican victory of November 4 and is headed into 1925 with every prospect for solid, satisfying prosperity and expansion, declares A. R. Eastman, president of the Glendale State bank and treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce.

Returning from a two weeks' vacation spent at Big Bear, Mr. Eastman sees a decided change in the local situation. New people are coming from the east, bringing new money; the escrow department of his bank is doing more business, indicating that property is on the move; Glendale merchants report increased business, and prove their assertions by larger daily deposits; customers of the bank report one vacancy now in rental property, where there were six or seven before, indicating that the influx from the east and middle west has begun; and unemployment appears greatly decreased over the summer months, as expanding business warrants increases in personnel.

Business Booms

"There is a curious psychological effect the election has had on the public," says Mr. Eastman. "Now that Coolidge is to be the president, business, that had been holding its breath, relaxes and the breathing processes of economic life again become normal. Even in two weeks I notice great changes. Glendale is up on its toes. There is no 'boom' but the confident feeling of prosperity to come and expansion in the months ahead have given rise to a general optimistic tone.

"The American building bill for 1924 was $4,500,000,000, according to figures recently made public by the federal reserve board and the department of commerce. Of this, 40 per cent was for homes. These figures are borne out locally, where our permits for this year already total $9,000,000, or $500,000 more than a year ago at the middle of November. I am satisfied that 1925 will see both the national and the local building figures of 1924 exceeded. The country has not yet caught up with the building shortage occasioned by several years of war and post-war conditions.

Sees Steady Gain

"As long as there is building there will be prosperity, and this has a particular application to Glendale. The one thing that has been most instrumental in keeping Glendale a 'white spot' during the present year has been the surprising volume of building that has been done here.

"Of course, no solid, substantial prosperity will satisfy a certain small class who want to boom conditions. To such people, healthy, normal growth is too slow. They are in too much of a hurry to attain the goal. They fail to realize that you can't shift into high when you are climbing, without first going into low and then intermediate.

"Bankers are frequently called conservative but I for one would rather see Glendale or any other city go ahead steadily and surely, as Glendale is now going, than to go through conditions of wild speculation and mad speed—and then repent at leisure, with plenty of leisure in which to repent.

"Unless a few super-optimists throw a monkey-wrench in the machinery, Glendale is set firmly on the road that leads to permanent prosperity."

Proclamation

To the licensed real estate brokers of California, greetings: Having just taken oath of office as president of the California Real Estate association before State Real Estate Commissioner Edwin T. Keiser, and having sworn to do my utmost to further the interests of the profession of real estate and its ethical conduct; and believing that in organization there is strength; that in education there is power; and that by unity of purpose and by concerted effort only can we, as real estate brokers, attain that high degree of conduct which will place all ethical real estate dealers on a professional basis, and realizing that through the local boards can these great aids be extended to brokers in California, I therefore designate December 8 to 13 "California Realty Board Membership Week," and have urged every member of the California Real Estate association during that period to interest at least one fellow real estate dealer in the local realty organization.

The realty board has ever played a constructive part in the development of our great commonwealth and the men and women who comprise the local boards are imbued with civic pride and preach throughout the state and nation the glory of their city.

Every town should have the benefit of an organization of real estate brokers united in a common cause—the development of the home, the city and the state. Every realty broker in California should take sufficient pride in his community to associate himself with an organization dedicated to the upbuilding of his profession.

Those who are now members of a local realty board know its benefits and I am calling upon all realty boards, all officers and all directors of our association to spread the gospel of realty organization during the week of December 8 to 13.

There are realty boards in 100 towns and cities in California. Where there are no boards and only a few daelers, those who desire affiliation with this great movement are invited to apply direct to the state association.

I pledge the hearty support of the organization of which I am president in this movement to weld together all ethical dealers in real property.

I hereby designate our state vice presidents as district heads of "California Realty Board Membership Week."

The vice presidents who will lead the campaign are: Stephen Barnson, San Diego; Fred R. Caldwell, Oakland; John T. Crowe, Tulare; E. J. Del Porte, Long Beach; St. George Holden, San Francisco; Carl E. Johnston, Sacramento; Harrison Lewis, Beverly Hills; John N. Mount, Napa; Edgar T. Oakes, Los Angeles; Frank C. Pope, Santa Ana; W. E. Stephens, Riverside; Robert A. Swink, Pasadena; O. A. Vickrey, Los Angeles; Benjamin F. Wright, Monterey.

All state directors are to be their lieutenants and thus our state directors and officers are at the command of the local boards.

All real estate brokers are asked to do their full duty by their state and themselves, December 8 to 13, 1924, "California Realty Board Membership Week."

EVERETT A. WHITE, President,
California Real Estate Association.

COOLIDGE WIN IS BOOM TO REALTOR

A. J. Lucas Says Election And Evening News Ad Put Punch In Trade

"Well, I am glad Coolidge was elected and business has been good ever since," declared A. J. Lucas, realtor, 309 South Brand boulevard, "and Glendale Evening News want ads certainly have great pulling power." To prove his statement Mr. Lucas gave a list of sales made through Evening News classified ads in the past few days.

Dwelling at 441 West Pioneer drive, six rooms, sold to C. E. Seuss, a member of the firm of Wedel Auto works, 818 West Sixteenth street, Los Angeles; eighty acre improved ranch, San Joaquin county, fully equipped, sold by Isabelle Wood, 2750 Kenwood avenue, Hollywood, to Henry Ireland, a recent arrival from Denver, Colo.; dwelling at 430 West Pioneer drive bought by B. O. Cole; dwelling 61 Vista Bonita street, Flintridge, sold to W. D. Hanks, an official of the National Harvester Co., Los Angeles; dwelling 912 Alameda street, Burbank, sold by M. C. Kannon to P. J. Cole, Havelock, Neb.; lot, 19 Linden avenue, sold by L. D. McKeen to Mrs. M. P. Fleming, 1150 North Kenmore avenue, Hollywood. The last two sales were made through a two day ad in The Evening News.

Clothing Sales Jump When Cold Hits South

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 22.—A few days of cool weather has stimulated sales of clothing, underwear and winter goods in this section and the retail trade reports a marked improvement especially in sales of silks, musical instruments and jewelry. This advance, however, has not yet reached the local manufacturers who do not expect bulge in sales until the country merchants have moved more of their present stocks. This is dependent on an extended period of cold weather. Business with Central America is increasing, owing to more stable political conditions. Every crop produced in this state shows a decrease in production except cotton, owing to drought.

Doheny Brief Filed In Oil Case of 104 Pages

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Containing 104 typewritten pages the brief of the case in the Doheny oil lease cancellation suit was filed yesterday by defense counsel. Under an agreement, government attorneys will have twenty days to file an amended brief.

CALIFORNIA GIFT BOOTH ATTRACTS

Assorted Fruits of State on Display at Pendroy's, Ready to Ship

The California gift booth at Pendroy's is one of the most attractive Christmas booths in the store and is a special feature for the holiday season. Shoppers visiting the second floor of this large department store will readily notice the attractively decorated booth which is in charge of Mrs. Fern Stratton. At the booth will be found assorted fruits of all varieties which have been grown in Southern California.

Orders for the fruit will be taken and shipped to any point in the United States reached by parcels post or express with a personal greeting card enclosed and charges prepaid by Pendroy's. An example of the popularity of the California gift booth is given in the number of orders already received and which will be sent to Massachusetts, South Carolina, Mississippi, China, Michigan, Illinois, Montana, Nebraska and Virginia.

Demand for Laborers In Northwest Better

ST. PAUL, Nov. 22.—Labor conditions in the northwest are satisfactory, as the demand for both skilled and unskilled workers is better than normal for this season of the year. Because of the marked expansion of business no unemployment is expected the balance of the winter. Men are in demand for building, railroad construction work, in lumber camps, on farms and in factories, printing plants and wholesale houses. Business leaders anticipate that expansion will be increased next spring. Holiday trade is expected to be heavier than for three years.

Record Wheat Acreage Looks Good In Texas

AMARILLO, Tex., Nov. 22.—A record acreage of wheat already is up in the plains district of Texas. The stand is ideal and enough moisture has fallen to keep the growth healthy during the winter.

Michigan Sugar Beet Crop Above Last Year

DETROIT, Nov. 22.—Michigan sugar beet production now is estimated at 1,157,000 tons, as compared with 885,000 tons last year.

Without government assistance few of the European airplane services could be conducted.

AUTHORS OF EAST UNABLE TO UNDERSTAND COUNTRY

One Refers to Los Angeles as Tourist Camp Tending to Become Permanent; Insists Glendale Is Only Sleepy Village

By GIL A. COWAN
Written for The Evening News

Cyrus H. K. Curtis, one time Boston newsboy, shuttles between his Philadelphia Public Ledger, the publication of the Saturday Evening Post, Ladies' Home Journal and Country Gentleman, and other widely circulated magazines.

Mr. Curtis is credited with a keen mind. He also has whiskers, according to his latest photograph. That is irrelevant, but interesting.

It is like the stories he prints in his Saturday Evening Post which sells for five cents, but is worth fifty, if you want "all the latest" about Southern California.

Only recently Frank Condon, fiction writer, located Glendale as a suburb of Hollywood. The Chamber of Commerce protests this. Just as many people live in Hollywood and work here as Glendale people work in Hollywood, if Mr. Condon or Mr. Curtis should investigate. That, too, is irrelevant. But Byron Morgan some months before had his hero motoring through the peaceful village of Glendale. Glendale is peaceful, yet if it were as close to Philadelphia as it is to Los Angeles, Mr. Curtis would not permit his editors to minimize its size.

"Great Tourist Camp"

Now comes Garet Garrett in the most recent issue of The Saturday Evening Post and declares his first impression of Los Angeles is that of a great tourist camp, tending to become permanent. He is kind to Los Angeles in printing more truth about the great western metropolis than other writers have dared to do. Mr. Curtis might do well to send him to Glendale, however, for he frankly confesses that nobody knows "why Los Angeles is."

The writer has traveled a bit and he can answer the question. Briefly, there is only ONE Southern California. By that is meant just this:

Mountain ranges to the north and east, protecting hills along the coast, inland empires which are irrigated by mountain streams producing the utmost in fine fruits and vegetables, oil fields which have astounded the world and year 'round playgrounds in the mountains and at the beaches, not to forget industry which has been created almost overnight.

Glendale benefits from all of these. So does Los Angeles in a greater measure. To cite a few instances:

Many families residing in this vicinity have their men folks engaged in the vegetable industry of Imperial valley as well as cotton raising. One youth whose parents reside in Tujunga operates a dairy there; two sons of another family here are prominent in cantaloupe shipping in the valley; many boys go from Glendale to work as vegetable packers.

Industries Varied

Two expert oil well shooters, not to mention hundreds of others connected with the oil industry both in field and in offices, maintain their homes in Glendale as the oil fields are not desirable places for family life.

Many Glendale people own cottages and apartments at the beaches which provide them income and pleasant summer residence; more than one Glendale family is engaged in operating camps in the San Bernardino mountains; others own walnut and citrus groves which require a good deal of their attention but permit living in Glendale which is connected to the entire southland by a network of highways.

Local industries numbering eighty, including laboratories, silk and hosiery mills, ceramic arts production, furniture and candy factories, employ hundreds of people while Los Angeles provides an unlimited field for the employment of skilled labor which finds Glendale an all-American city.

Free From Smoke

Hollywood artisans, including plasterers, carpenters and allied trades, come to Glendale every day for their employment in building a greater city; motion picture directors and stars living here go to Hollywood each morning for their daily toil.

It is true that the oranges and the oil and the motion pictures are shipped to all parts of the world. It is true that Southern California with its natural gas and fuel oil doesn't have the belching smokestacks of an eastern industrial center.

It is true that people here live in bungalows which do not have the permanency of row after row of brick tenements in New York, Philadelphia or Baltimore. Apartment houses here look unlike those anywhere else in the wide world. Eastern writers do not understand the housing situation here, they cannot see the factories except in the limited area housing the steel mills, packing houses and oil refineries of Los Angeles.

Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors are spread over such an area and the placid Pacific of the southland does not require the hundreds of tugs needed in New York harbor or Hampton Roads or the channels of Delaware river, that a comparison of shipping must be made from tonnage figures and not ships visible to the naked eye.

On Armistice day there were flags of other countries on twenty-eight ships in Los Angeles harbor, it is said. And yet the landlubbers didn't take cognizance of their being there.

Truly, there is only ONE Southern California. The whole world is making Los Angeles and Glendale and other communities what they are. This may explain, in part, why growth here has been more phenomenal in the last two decades than elsewhere in America.

Quarrel Over Still In Cellar Costs Two Lives

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 22.—August Fiedler, 52, a butcher, shot and seriously wounded his wife, Mrs. Lisette Fiedler, 50, and then ended his own life in the basement of their home here. Persistent quarreling between the couple led to the shooting, according to the woman's daughter. It was said he insisted on making liquor in the basement and that his wife objected strenuously. Mrs. Fiedler filed suit for divorce last week.

Hardwood Lumbermen Prepared With Stock

SHREVEPORT, Nov. 22.—Hardwood lumbermen of the southwest have good stocks on hand and are ready to take care of an expected increase demand reflecting a healthy condition of the industry throughout Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas. Mills reported an increase in the demand abroad for hardwood, especially oak.

GLENDALE CASEYS TO GET IN SWIM

Knights Of Columbus Order Enter Intersectional Athletic League

Glendale will be entered in the intersectional contests of the Knights of Columbus athletic league, according to announcement made today by Harry Manush, who was honored at a meeting Thursday night in the Los Angeles Knights of Columbus auditorium by being elected vice-president of the Los Angeles county sectional organization.

Dan Murphy of Los Angeles is president and William Wolf of Alhambra will do the heavy labor of secretary and treasurer. Baseball, basketball and bowling teams will be entered by Glendale, Los Angeles, Alhambra, Hollywood, Manchester Heights, Santa Ana, Long Beach and Pasadena, according to promises made by local sporting representatives at the meeting.

Coming Activities

Glendale has entered its baseball and bowling teams and will organize a basketball team if possible. The baseball, hoop and pin circuits will be functioning shortly and early in the spring the Los Angeles county leaders will be pitted against other winning teams in the southland. Later the northern and southern California playoff will be held with the attendant interest, perhaps culminating in championship play at the annual conclave of the Knights of Columbus.

In baseball this city already has a team which is well on its way to success in semi-pro ranks, playing the B'rnai B'rith here Sunday.

LEGION'S TURKEY BALL ON TONIGHT

Jazz Orchestra Rarin' to Go As Plans Complete for Thanksgiving Dance

All is in readiness for the music to start at 8:30 o'clock tonight for the American Legion Thanksgiving ball. The hall has been appropriately decorated in autumn colors. There will be plenty of free refreshments to delight the thirsty ones. The prize gobbler has been purchased and is awaiting to meet the holder of the lucky number in the prize drawing.

Lee Brann's famous Novelty orchestra, under the management of Harold Korn, is "r'arin' to go" and trippers of the light fantastic will glory in the melodious strains from these jazz hounds, who will be hitting on all eight for the occasion.

Lovers of real dance music have a rare treat in store for them and all Glendalians and their out-of-town friends are invited to participate in the gay festivities. So don't forget the time and place: Tonight at 8:30 o'clock, 333 North Brand boulevard.

BUYERS OF LOTS OPTIMISTIC NOW

Hayward & McCartney Report Coolidge Election Gave Impetus To Sale

A rather unexpected activity in vacant lots is reported by Hayward & McCartney. The re-election of Coolidge is decidedly evident in the confidence displayed by vacant lot buyers. Not only are the contractors and builders and homeseekers picking up the bargains now on the market, but speculators are finding attractive investments in this field.

This is considered a very encouraging sign for a strong market this winter and coming spring.

Interesting Pictures

The launching of airplanes by explosives from the turrets of battleships, the dispatching by radio, and a host of other recent developments were related to the 200 members of the association present, including a good representation from Glendale, Hollywood, Pasadena and other communities.

Pictures of airplane and big gun bombardment of a warship, similar to that now taking place off Virginia, where the incompleted hull of the U. S. S. Washington is being sunk, gave the motion pictures current interest, while the historical data were more vivid than the spoken or written word could imply.

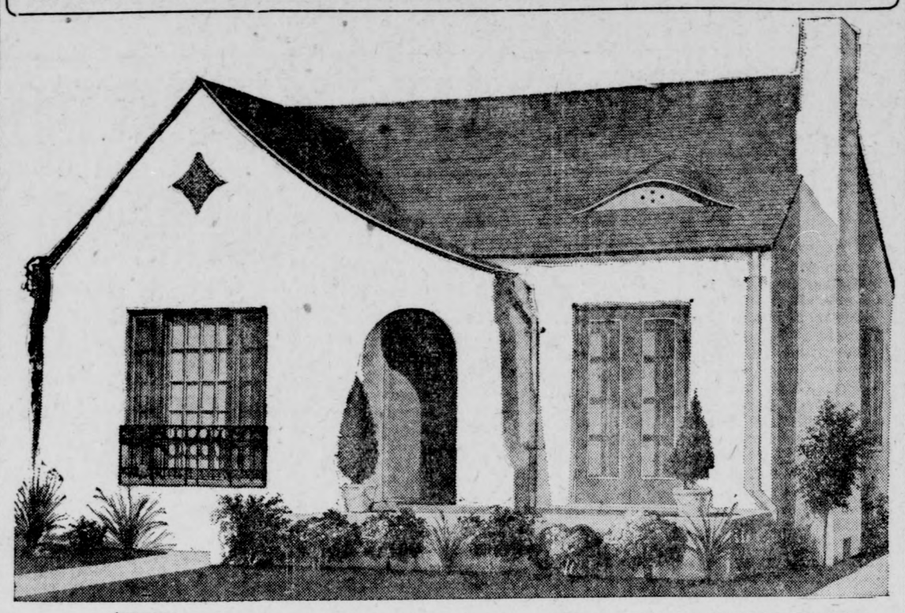
Semi-English In Style

Plenty of room and an attractive residence are the outstanding features of this five-room stucco house, the design of which has been made by the Pacific Ready-Cut Homes. The concrete porch terrace adds to the beauty of the structure and gives a British flavor.



You who are partial to stucco homes of the semi-English contour will be delighted with this five-room house which expresses the best that our modern architects have been able to create. The concrete porch terrace measures 15x5½ and invites one into the living room with its attractive fireplace and air of contentment.

The dining room, with its built-in cupboard, is located at the front of the house and is made unusually attractive and inviting by the high front window. Then there are two good sized bedrooms, hall, bathroom and kitchen with built-in breakfast nook and many other unusual and attractive features.

The back porch is screened in. This house, although not nearly so expensive as one would think, makes an exceedingly attractive and livable home. It is designed by Pacific Ready-Cut Homes.

Builders See Another Year In Boom Business sum is not included in the actual shortage now existing.

Neither do these figures include the rural activities necessitated by replacement of farm buildings, houses, barns, silos and sheds. These needs will require millions of feet of lumber and heavy quantities of cement, but the labor involved will be provided largely by the farmers themselves and their employes. Shortages are not general even in cities as a whole. In some locations of the larger centers dwellings are needed. In other sections of the same city the saturation point already has been reached.

Eastern Shortage

The eastern division of the country, the most heavily populated, reports a total shortage of $2,312,510,000 in buildings. The deficit in the central west will necessitate expenditure of $1,148,000,000. The shortage in the western states amounts to only $281,115,000, while in the south the total is $307,496,000. As to cities the most exceptions are found in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles and Denver.

In many cities an apparent need for dwellings has been satisfied by construction in adjacent suburban territory. "Out to the suburbs" is a cry which represents a very distinct movement throughout the country. The mental viewpoint of many citizens is that with automobile, train and bus transportation readily available, they no longer face the necessity of living near their work in a populous center where rents and costs are high.

The feeling has led to the expenditure of millions of dollars for suburban homes and while real estate values in the outskirts of large cities have increased in the last two years, they have not risen to a point where they approach the values in the cities which must be accompanied by high rents to yield an adequate return on investments.

For example one of the latest real estate deals in New York was made on the basis of $304 a square foot. Such a piece of property will not by any possibility be utilized for dwellings except by those so wealthy that expense has ceased to be an object. This migratory tendency has also had a decided effect on the sale of automobiles and is daily confirming the assertion of Mr. Ford and others that the saturation point still is far off so far as automobile ownership is concerned, although there is at present in this country an automobile or truck in commission for every six and a half inhabitants.

Cost of labor in the building trades gives little indication of a decrease for at least a year to come. Most of the construction work now is being carried on under contracts between employers and workmen which will run until April, 1926.

Denver Banks Will Pay Out Big Xmas Savings

DENVER, Nov. 22.—Christmas savings clubs here will pay out approximately $690,000 this year. Bank officials estimate that at least 75 per cent of this amount will go into permanent savings accounts.

DANCING CLUB TO START BUILDING

$75,000 Structure Permit Issued by City; Plans Are Announced

The Iroquois Swimming and Dancing club, a permit for the $75,000 building having been taken out this week, will be operated primarily for the benefit and convenience of its members, according to B. F. Brennan, an official of the club. Courtesy and consideration, he declared, will be the motto of the club at all times.

The clubhouse will be located at Arden and Central avenues and plans are being made to have it at all times the scene of some activity or affair. The arrangement of the club will be ingenious, calculated to expedite service and quality at a moderate scale of prices. The dancing floor will be made of inlaid hardwood and built to allow of a slight spring, thereby minimizing fatigue from dancing. Heating, ventilating, plumbing, filtering and lighting systems will be more than adequate to care for the greatest demands that may be made upon them.

The entire construction is worked out along the most modern lines of efficiency and strength, with steel and concrete throughout. It will be fireproof and strainproof.

Contractors, Owners Protected By Clause

the Builders' Exchange of Glendale to meet the situation follows, insertion of either clause having the same force and effect.

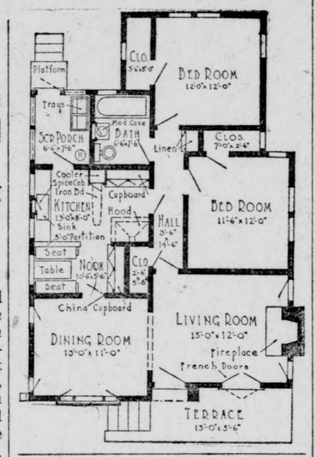
"In further consideration of the herein stipulated contract price, the contractor binds himself, his heirs, successors and assigns, to accept said sum and each installment payment thereof made within the terms of this contract, nevertheless, in trust for each and every individual, firm or corporation having furnished either labor, material or both on the building contracted to be constructed hereunder; and to well and truly pay the same together with such other and further charges remaining unpaid against the said building and of whatsoever nature, due or to become due at the date of each and every payment made hereunder, retaining the remainder, if any, for his own use and behoof, provided, however, that until all charges against the building herein contracted for have been fully payed and satisfied, no title or interest in and to any such payments or any part thereof shall vest in the contractor, to the end that the building hereunder constructed shall be free and clear of all construction charges and subject to no liens of any kind and character on the date and at the time when the final payment hereunder to be made by the owner has been made and fully satisfied."

A bank check designed to fully protect the owner either with or without such a clause in the contract has also been formulated by Attorney Molz and prospective builders are urged in their interest to make full use of these protective measures, for after all is said and done, it is better to be safe than sorry.

Members of the Builders' Exchange of Glendale are here to serve builders efficiently and loyally at the lowest possible cost consistent with quality materials and workmanship, and they do it every time.

Mrs. Jenkins' Program Of Music at Oakmont

Mrs. Jack Jenkins has arranged a program of popular music for the music hour Sunday night at the Oakmont Country club, from 8 to 10 o'clock to include whistling solos by Mrs. Jenkins; vocal numbers by Mr. Jenkins; pianologues by Kenny Whaley; saxophone solos, songs and dances by 8-year-old Jacqueline Barton.



URGE BIG TUNNEL FOR FLOOD WATER

Bore to Carry Surplus From Sycamore Canyon Called Most Logical Plan

headed out of the Glendale watershed.

Stressing the points that he strongly urged adequate sand traps at the entrance to the tunnel to catch all debris from the upper canyons and stood for the improvement of Verdugo wash both below and for at least a half-mile above the tunnel exit before Sycamore canyon waters be allowed to enter it, Mr. Lynch strongly endorsed the tunnel plan and said it was adequately assured that both his objections would be met before the tunnel was attempted. Mr. Stone assured him they would be.

Flood Menace Great

Mr. Lynch declared the proposed tunnel in his opinion would be amply large to care for any amount of water from Sycamore canyon. He urged the need of even greater and more extended flood control for Glendale, declaring that flood prevention work, regardless of where, is a benefit to the whole city. He declared that the flood menace to Glendale at the present is the greatest in history, and that undivided effort should be lent in the abolition of this menace.

"One flood would make our $50,000 advertising fund look like 30 cents," he declared. "It would be a staggering blow to the whole city. Verdugo wash is a shame and a disgrace to a city like Glendale, boasting of its beauties, its fine streets and its prosperity. Let us stop playing around and spend the money we have for flood control intelligently. We have not done so in the past. Selfish interests have been the reason permanent improvement of the wash has not been accomplished long ago."

Captain Wattles was the last speaker on the program. He urged the adoption of the tunnel plan unequivocally, declaring it cheaper and shorter than the Sycamore Canyon road; a covered tunnel, which will be safe and unnoticeable, as against an open culvert, dangerous and unsightly; and a means of both reclaiming and protecting much valuable property.

Will Attend Meeting

He stressed that the matter of the tunnel was strictly separate from the improvement of Verdugo wash or the proposed highway as planned by Mr. Ferry, and should be considered separately by the citizens. He said that the natural flow from Verdugo canyon is eight times that of Sycamore canyon, and improvement of the Verdugo wash must be taken into consideration regardless of whether the tunnel is built or not.

"Every argument favors the tunnel, not one favors the Sycamore Canyon drive ditch," he declared.

Everyone at the meeting pledged to attend the session of the county supervisors Monday morning at 10 o'clock, on the third floor of the Hall of Records building, North Broadway, Los Angeles. Each one present was requested to bring a friend, while all interested citizens of Glendale were invited to attend the meeting by way of backing up the request for the tunnel.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Nov. 22.—This community is soon to be the "light spot" on the white spot, if the plans of H. G. Warren carry. As chairman of the Chamber of Commerce street lighting committee, he has begun a campaign to get more lights.

The committee, composed of A. E. Bennett, B. I. Fitzgerald, Sidney Smith, Dr. W. D. Drake, A. L. McCammon and H. G. Warren, is making a thorough investigation of the needs in Eagle Rock and of the city requirements. When this investigation is completed, Mr. Warner states, the facts will be presented to property owners in the district and definite action will be planned.

The question of more lights for Eagle Rock has often been raised, but civic workers have sidetracked the issue in the face of more vital needs, such as additional water supply, fire protection and installation of sewers. These matters having received sufficient attention, plans are being made to cover the other needs of Eagle Rock most pressing of which seems to be adequate street lighting.

To the Eagle Rock P.-T. A. goes the record for having the largest attendance at a P.-T. A. meeting of any section of the city of Los Angeles. There were 350 members of the local body present last Wednesday, when Mrs. Susan Dorsey, superintendent of schools, was the principal speaker, and Dr. H. B. Crawford, a local physician, spoke on care of the teeth.

Reports show that the membership drive has netted a total of 402 members for the organization. Another report of vital interest in revealing what the P.-T. A. is accomplishing for the children of the country is that of the distribution of the fund raised at the Harvest Home Festival, $175 going to Federation benevolent work.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner and three children are preparing to move to their new Hollywood home. Mr. Gardner is an architect and has his office in Los Angeles.

J. Campbell, who has been the guest of W. P. Ball and family of 5115 Rockland avenue, has left for his home in Vancouver, B. C.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Nov. 22.—Plans are under consideration here for the establishment of a junior college that will add two years' collegiate work to the present system and keep the pupils at home two years longer. F. S. Moore, principal of the Burbank High school, is understood to favor such a program.

A meeting felt to be of general importance to everyone in Burbank is to be held Monday night, November 24, at the Edison school, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. This is a meeting sponsored by the Park and Forestry commission of Burbank, which has secured the presence of Gordon Whitnall for that date. He will make an address and tell the audience of the great park system which is proposed for Burbank as part of San Fernando valley, which is also a part of the area embraced in the plan, and includes Los Angeles and surrounding territory for many miles.

The annual banquet of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce has been announced to take place at the Benmar Hills auditorium on the night of Friday, December 5. This is the date set in the by-laws of the organization for the annual election of officers and reorganization of the board. The voting for five directors is now in progress by mail ballot. The vote will be canvassed at the regular meeting of the board at noon on December 5, after which the incoming board will elect their new officers and prepare to announce the same at the banquet of the entire organization that night.

People of Burbank are much concerned over the progress of the big trencher up San Fernando boulevard, digging the ditch for the sewer. It is estimated by merchants that unless something can be done to check its progress, the main street of the business section will be torn up during the Christmas holidays. Steps are under way to have the trencher halted until after January 1.

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, Nov. 22.—Plans for the first annual dinner of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce are moving forward according to the committee on arrangement composed of James Brown, president of the chamber; W. J. Kaune, secretary, and Leigh Quakenbush, assistant secretary. Efforts are being made to obtain Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles as the speaker for the occasion and also John Steven MacGroarty. As Mayor Cryer attended school in the little old adobe school house on the corner of Dwyer and Michigan avenues it is hoped he will be present. Mr. MacGroarty will make every effort to be present. Messrs. Arthur Satchell and brother Fred, of the Blue Bird cafe, will have charge of the dinner which will be served in the Parr building on the north side of Honolulu avenue opposite the bank Tuesday evening, December 2, being the regular meeting night.

Members of the guild of St. Luke of the Mountains were the guests of Mrs. Seymour Thomas at her home, Cuddle Doon, for tea yesterday afternoon. It was unanimously agreed to expend the money raised at the bazaar on finishing the basement of the church to hold guild meetings and give dinners or sales. The room will be wired and plastered. Mrs. Emily Scoles of Flintridge presided at the tea urn.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Nov. 22.—Sociable discussion of various improvement projects marked the November meeting of the roundtable, composed of representatives of Tujunga and Sunland organizations. The only definite action taken was in accepting an invitation of the Tujunga Kiwanis club for the next meeting in December. The Kiwanis club will entertain and act as host.

The last meeting, held at Sunland, was productive of discussions on subjects including: street improvement, a community chest, sanitary regulation, fire protection.

Complete organization of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce has been effected for the coming year. Officers and committees include: Herman H. Breidt, president; Leon Carr, vice-president; J. O'B. Bodkin, secretary; J. H. Kautz, treasurer. Publicity committee, C. H. Conway; light and telephone, J. O'B. Bodkin; streets, Harry Zachau; auditing and sings, Ed Forster; gas and transportation, Mr. Haines; entertainment, Mr. Brooks; membership, Leon Carr; printing, Leon Carr. H. H. Breidt, Ed Forster and C. H. Conway have three-year terms to serve on the board; Leon Carr, Mr. Haines and Harry Zachau have two years to serve and J. H. Kautz, J. O.'B. Bodkin and Mr. Brooks have one year each to serve.

Dr. L. H. Perner, dentist, has returned from a vacation hunting trip to Utah and Arizona.

Harry Zitto, student in the Glendale Union High school, was recently honored by a host of friends at a surprise party in honor of his seventeenth birthday. The party was held at the Tujunga Woman's clubhouse on San Ysidro street, which was decorated in flowers, streamers and pennants carrying out the colors of the Glendale Union High school Many remembrance gifts were bestowed on the honor guest by his young friends.

Dancing and games were enjoyed and the celebration was followed by a buffet supper. Among the guests were: Misses Virginia Petrotta, Mildred Furlong, Betty Ferris, Dixie Anderson, Ruth Jacob, Dorothy Bottiner, Cora Winters, Imogene Snyder, Marian Baker, Rose Lee Wunrath, Zina Zitto; Clarence McBriley, Theodore Sweet, Nathaniel Zitto, Gerald Fazoli, William Pons, Victor Palm, Edward Jacob, Edward Ostensi, Edward Reihm, Marshall Anderson, James Wright, Charles Furlong, Albert Miller, Kenneth Magee, Fred Terzo, John Moulder, Anthony Fomataro, Nathaniel Petrotta, Joseph Petrotta, Joseph O'Donnel; Messrs. and Mesdames Victor Zitto, John Zitto, Philip Reihm, Charles Furlong, sr., Fred Petrotta, sr., Kindler; Mrs. Moluder, Mrs. Cruickshank; Miss Griffis.

The first popular program of the recently formed Choral society of the Tujunga Community church will be given tonight, Friday, at the church. Mrs. Augustus Adams is director, Mrs. Earl Schoch is accompanist. The society will be assisted by Mrs. Edith Sucher Robinson, soprano, and the Boy Scouts of Tujunga.

The program, arranged in variety to make a wide appeal to all lovers of music, include: "Hail to Our Native Land" (Verdi); "My Dreams" (Lee); "By the Waters of Minnetonka" (Lieurance); "I Hear a Thrush at Eve" (Cadman); readings, with piano accompaniment, "Dying from a Kiss" (Tilzer); "Down Among the Sugar Cane" (Smith), by Mrs. John L. George; "Medley from the South" (Pike); "Goin' Home" (Dvorak), by Choral society; soprano solos, "Life" (Curran); "The Wind's in the South" (Scott), by Mrs. Edith Sucher Robinson; "Recessional" (Kipling), by Choral society; solo by Henry J. Jaeger.

Members of the society are: Sopranos, Mesdames E. B. Day, Minnie L. Dunn, John L. George, J. A. Jenkins, M. F. Jepson, Mildred Jepson, Mary F. Scranton, John F. Sweet, A. F. Ulrich; altos, Mrs. Fred Axe, Miss Leila Eppard, Mrs. F. O. Hough, Mrs. H. J. Jaeger, Miss Mildred Williams; tenors, J. A. Jenkins, Earl Schoch, Don Wieman; bassos, Herbert Ainsworth, E. B. ART SOCIETY TAKES UP POSTERS

Glendale Club In Meeting At Library Hears of Lithographing

The regular meeting of the Glendale Art association held last night at the Public Library was featured by one of the series of roundtable talks which are growing in popularity with the members.

Rudolf Streit, a master of the art of producing the modern poster, directed the talk, exhibiting a fine series of posters, demonstrating each step from the black and white to the highly colored, finished product.

"History tells us," he said, "the first lithograph printing was done in Germany centuries ago. England was the first country to produce posters on a large scale, America following by fifteen years. It was with the coming of the moving pictures that the poster industry grew by leaps and bounds. The small sheet used originally has been increased to a forty-eight-sheet size at times."

Stencil Poster Work

At the close of the talk, E. Franquinet, by request, spoke of the stencil poster, which is made by an entirely different method. It is by this method that the beautiful paintings of F. Grayson Sayre have been reproduced with remarkable accuracy.

Discussion brought out many intricate and interesting points in the two methods, which are so entirely different and produce such pleasing results.

Time was given to viewing a number of pictures by Mrs. M. W. Connors, a Denver artist. Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh presided at the meeting. She called attention to the coming meeting, November 29, to be held at Tujunga, in the interest of the Eisteddfod, the movement that is sweeping the country, and in which California is taking the lead; the movement that points to this state as the art center of the world, and is, said the speaker, "the biggest thing that has ever been done to push art to the front."

Announcement also was made that the members of the Art association were to place their pictures in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse for the December exhibit.

Elementary School Notes

Colorado Street School—Fathers' night held November 14 under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher association, brought an unusually large crowd. A total of 120 people were present; among this number were thirty-five fathers.

A twelve-foot American flag was installed in the school Monday, November 17. It was presented by the Parent-Teacher association.

A paper drive netting six tons of news print and one ton of magazines has just been ended. A profit of $43.41 was realized on the drive. It will be used for the purchase of "Speedograph."

At the Glendale City Teachers' club steakbake held November 17, this school had the largest representation of persons present.

Columbus Avenue School—The Thanksgiving donation drive is now under way. Boys and girls are urged to bring from one to five cents. The amount collected will be turned over to a committee for the purchase of food for poor families.

Doran Street School—This school had as its distinguished visitors during American Education week, Mayor Robinson, and four council members, Mr. Fuller the G. A. R. commander, and Mrs. Skelton of the Woman's Relief corps.

Central Avenue School—Plans are now under way for Christmas programs, to be held December 12. Two separate programs will be arranged, one for the 4th, 5th and 6th grades, and another for the 1st, 2d and 3d grades.

Pacific Avenue School—A paper drive conducted in this school ended yesterday. It is expected that a considerable profit will be realized. This money will be spent for books, health pictures and frames and sets of bird pictures. Plans are now being made for an operetta to be given by the fifth and sixth grades, preceding Christmas vacation.

A special Thanksgiving program will be conducted in each class room next Wednesday.

Broadway School—Thanksgiving and Christmas programs are being prepared for presentation to the school at appropriate dates.

Mrs. Mary O. Ryan, principal, who has been suffering from an injury, is expected back at the school during the coming week.

Grand View School—An art exhibit will be on display at the school building the evenings of December 3, 4 and 5. More than two hundred carbon photographs, photogravures and colored prints, loaned by the Elson Art Publishing Co., will be on exhibition. It is claimed that the pictures are of more than ordinary interest since they include masterpieces of different countries and periods.

The proceeds of the exhibit will be used for the purchase of pictures for the school rooms.

An Athletic association has been organized by the boys of the school. After an exciting election Wesley Warnholz was elected president, Bruce Mair, secretary, and William Benson, treasurer. The association is building up a strong school spirit.

Frank Evens, a B-6 pupil who sells magazines, recently passed the examination in Business Practice, given by the Curtis Vocational Service of Philadelphia, and qualified with an Expert Degree. It is his plan to qualify for the Master Degree as soon as possible.

Wilson Intermediate School—In connection with oral English and reading students have organized a number of literary societies under the supervision of Mrs. Fern Fairy Lytle, Miss Romayne Lotta and Miss Mildred Chranicki. These clubs prepare programs and speeches, teach elementary parliamentary law and offer their services generally in celebrating days of special interest to students.

A boys' glee club, sponsored by the Music department, is trained and directed by Miss Lois Hanna. The glee club has as its officers: James Bobbitt, president; Gilbert Eckles, vice-president; Rex Morthland, secretary. Rehearsals are held once each week. Membership is made up chiefly of seventh grade boys.

Every student at the Wilson school is a member of the Boys' Athletic club or the Girls' Athletic club. Dues amount to ten cents each semester and treasury funds are used to provide athletic equipment. The club lends its support to various entertainments and field day programs.

Officers of the Boys' Athletic club include: Norman Girard, president; David Stuart, vice-president; Wendell Sherman, secretary; Kenneth McCombs, yell leader. The Girls' Athletic club officers are: Doris Hanna, eighth grade manager; Jane Criswell, assistant manager; Helen McCormack, bookkeeper; Elsie Chance, property girl; Dorothy Hill, yell leader; Mildred Thompson, seventh grade, manager; Francis Green, assistant manager; Elizabeth Jennings, property girl.

Forty-three boys and girls are included in the school orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Ettarae Kent. Most of the members have never played in an orchestra before this year but, to date, they have made fine progress in preparation for the year's work. The violins are divided into three sections: first violin, second violin and obligato. Besides the violins there are chellos, clarinets, cornets, trombones, saxophones and drums.

The orchestra has been organized into a club with Rex Morthland as president; Kathleen Custer, vice-president; Frank Michel, secretary. Rehearsals are held twice weekly at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Forty members are included in the Girls' Glee club directed by Mrs. Ettarae Kent. Meetings are held weekly in preparation for public appearances. Officers of the Girls' Glee club are: Irene Ewald, president; Reita Shrader, vice-president; Leona Pinoges, secretary, and Jean Smith, librarian.

Glendale Avenue Intermediate School—February graduating classes will offer the afternoon and evening of December 12, three one-act plays: "Why the Chimes Rang," a Christmas play, by Elizabeth McFadden; "Ten Minutes by the Clock," sponsored by the Drama league, by Alice D. Riley; and "The Invention of the Rat Trap," a Chinese comedy, by Samuel Caldwell.

The proceeds realized from the plays will be used to defray an indebtedness on the stage curtains. Miss Lorene Fritch and Miss Helen Reynolds, class teachers, are directing the plays.

At an assembly held yesterday athletic letters were awarded to boys for soccer and to girls for volley ball. The boys' touch football team will play its first game next Wednesday against the Page Military academy.

In order to encourage superior class room work a scholarship society has been organized to include pupils attaining high grades each school quarter. At the close of the current quarter awards of scholarship were made to Betty Biggs, Ruth Houle, Frederic Dundas, Theodore Hirsch, Alehandro Madrid, Margaret Baum, Edna Marxmiller, Bobby Hollingsworth, Varian Sloan, Dorothy Erskine, Helen Rosenberg, Mildred Allen, Ruth Kreinbring, Beatrice Guenther, Doris Stamps, Jean Trudeau, Martha Warfield, Nicholas Jamgochian, Takeo Hiroschima, Frances Dundas, B. J. Ruyle, Rosemary Gilhuly, Dorothy Gardner and Jean Wysong.

The first issue of the Tiger, the school paper, appears November 24. Betty Biggs is editor, Frederic Dundas, associate editor; Dorothy Erskine, associate editor; and Virginia Wymore and Charles Warfield, department editors. Robert Lee is sports editor and Lewis Dixon assistant sports editor. The business staff consists of Howard Chittendon and Edwin Woodford. Faculty advisers include Miss Avis M. White, Miss Helen Brockett and H. P. Fitzpatrick.

The Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs, under the direction of Miss Mildred Hughey, will offer a Christmas Carol service at 4 o'clock the afternoon of December 14. The program is open to the public and will include nine numbers.

A spirited campaign was conducted in the election of officers for the Student association. Officers chosen include: Alejandro Madrid, president; Obed Lucas, vice-president, and Julian Zunega, secretary. Council members have also been elected from each class. The council meets weekly.

SPECIAL DEPARTMENTS

Physical Training

The Intermediate schools recently completed their soccer football schedule. Gendale Avenue won two out of three series of games and the championship from the Wilson school.

Touch football, a modified form of American football, is now under way in the Intermediate schools. Amner Petty, physical training teacher at the Glendale Avenue school, and Harry Lintz, physical training teacher at the Wilson school, will draw up a schedule of games to begin next week.

Final play-offs are now under way in the soccer schedule arranged for the ten grammar schools. The championship will be decided shortly after the first of the year.

Wilson Avenue won the girls' volley ball championship in competition with the Glendale Avenue school. End ball is the current sport. This will be followed by basketball.

Grammar school girls will decide their volley ball championship as the result of games to be played the second week of December.

Home Economics

All schools conducted a Sewing exhibit during the past week as a part of the program for American Education week.

Art

Art classes from the upper grades of the grammar schools and the two Intermediate schools furnished posters for the Community Chest drive.

Book week ended last week in the 5th and 6th grades of the grammar schools. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Clyde Putnam, representing the Maid and Young Matron department of the Tuesday Afternoon club, twenty prizes were offered to pupils producing the best book plates. Pupils submitted original designs.

Eleanor Guenther of the A-5 grade, Colorado school, won the first prize, a book plate and 100 copies offered by C. Clyde. The second prize, offered by Miss Josephine Chambers, Elementary School Art supervisor, was awarded to Marjorie Hopner, B-6 grade, Columbus school. A third prize, donated by the Maid and Young Matron department of the Tuesday Afternoon club, went to Katheryn Peck, B-6 grade, Cerritos school.

Music

Orchestras of the grammar schools are rapidly rounding into efficient units. The near future will see them playing at school programs.

The Choral club of the Glendale City Teachers' club, is preparing for a series of numbers to be given at the Teachers' club luncheon at the Biltmore hotel, December 17.

MRS. TOLL HOLDS MEETING IN HOME

Members of P.E.O. Are Told World Moving Toward Universal Peace

All the world is moving toward universal peace, was the thought given yesterday by Mrs. Charles H. Toll to members of P. E. O., received at her foothill home for the reciprocity affair given by chapter BA of Glendale.

"Education for Peace" was the subject chosen by Mrs Toll for her message to her P. E. O. sisters. She compared educational facilities and opportunities in Europe and America, dealing particularly with the middle classes. Her prediction was that education is moving toward universal peace, which may not come in the present generation, but will finally be a world condition.

Over 100 women were present, including state officers, representatives from Glendale P. E. O. chapters, others not affiliated with the organization and women from Santa Monica, Burbank and Los Angeles.

Entertainment Bill

Miss Joyce Kingan of Los Angeles, pupil of John Smallman, gave two groups of songs. She sang "Care Selze" (Handel), "The Wings of Night" (Winter Watt), "Night" (Ronald), "A Spring Fantasy" (Dinsmore). Miss Christian Edwards, violinist, pupil of Calmon Lubovisgi, played "Solveig Song" from "The Peer Gynt Suite" (Grieg), "Dance of the Elves" (Eberhardt), "First Movement and Variations" from "Fantasie Appasionato" (Vieutemps). Mrs. Alice Ripley acted as accompanist and presented Miss Kingan and Miss Clark with corsage bouquets at the close of the program.

State officers present were Mrs. Faith Story of Burbank, first vice president, and Mrs. Pamelia Hord of Pasadena, treasurer, who assisted officers of chapter BA, Mesdames Josephine Brandt, Elizabeth Brown, Florence Wintersgill, Alice Ripley, Nellie Case, Nellie Ayars, Elizabeth Downing and Mrs. Charles H. Toll, member of chapter BA, in receiving the guests.

Mrs. Mary Houston and Mrs. Peral Guthrie poured. Sandwiches, cake and candy were served by Mesdames Mabel Hunter, Fern Clark, Alice Carter and Elizabeth Brown, assisting hostesses.

Real Community Spirit!

The spirit of selfishness which ruled the mercantile world at one time, and builded up a barrier that kept dollars from the money tills, and customers from the establishment, has gradually given away to the spirit of co-operation. An example of one of the most commendable spirit is seen today in the action of Henry M. Kuhn and Emil Cizek, owners of the Cizek Auto Electric Co. Without a thought of reward or recompense, these two men announce to the world at large and the residents of Glendale in particular, in a full page advertisement, that they "believe the merchants of Glendale have as good a line of merchandise as can be had anywhere."

No mention is made of their business. The attention of the public is directed to the merchants of the city. That's community spirit!

Not content with expounding the interests of other business firms, these men sound a warning to the public when they call attention to the fact that only twenty-six shopping days remain until Christmas.

It is this spirit of co-operation, this abolishment of the barriers of trade that have placed the merchants of Glendale in the metropolitan class, and enabled them to give to Glendale buyers the best values obtainable. It is this spirit that has builded Glendale. It is the spirit of goodfellowship and Christianity.

The Glendale Evening News is indeed glad to make editorial comment on the community spirit displayed by Henry M. Kuhn and Emil Cizek. We salute them!

LOS ANGELES

For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Desert breezes yesterday established a new November heat record for this city, weather bureau officials said today, the mercury climbing to 93 degrees.

Restrictions placed on national forest reserves because of the summer's fire hazard have been partially removed in Cleveland national forests, except in Temascal canyon, forestry officials here announced today. Camp fires may be lighted, but smoking and firearms in the forest are still banned.

In the ballroom of the Biltmore hotel tonight "Old Timers" of Los Angeles Elks' lodge No. 99 will be the honored guests at a banquet.

Completion of the Glendale-Hollywood-San Fernando valley subway of the Pacific Electric by July, four months ahead of scheduled dates, is now predicted by the contractors digging a mile long tunnel under Crown Hill.

Jackie Coogan slept in his own Los Angeles home last night after a six months' tour to the Near East with his parents.

Two more men are reported missing by the police today. Omar Fortier, aged 46, and Robert Hamer, aged 40, both business men, are gone.

Cecil B. De Mille is among those listed as speeders who failed to appear in court yesterday. Bench warrants will be issued for him and 200 others if they don't report, it was stated today by Police Judge Richardson. Another way to make Los Angeles popular with picture producers, no doubt.

DIRECTOIRE HATS

With the announcement that Directoire hats will be in style in London there has been an active sale of aids to the growth of hair from bobbed to tresses, and of artificial locks.

RECORD IN VOTES FOR C.C. MEMBERS

Lively Contest Anticipated As Candidates' Names Are Balloted

With 328 ballots already turned in and the ballot box open until next Tuesday night at 6 o'clock, the largest Chamber of Commerce vote on record was indicated for Glendale today. Fifty ballots were returned by mail or in person to the chamber offices, 150 South Brand boulevard, this morning, and at least 150 more are expected before the votes are counted Tuesday evening, Secretary Howard I. Wood said today.

The spirited campaigns waged by a number of the candidates for executive board offices was believed responsible for the great amount of interest manifest by the members in the election. Six places on the board are to be filled with seventeen candidates in the field. Many of these candidates are actively campaigning for the available places, it was stated.

Secretary Wood expressed his satisfaction at the election turnout to date, pointing that at the present rate, the total ballot will average a larger percentage of the membership than did the recent presidential election.

List of Candidates

Members of the chamber who are candidates in the present election are W. A. Tanner, R. E. Johnson, Dan Kelty, H. M. Butts, W. L. Truitt, Dr. T. C. Young, Thomas D. Watson, S. C. Singer, George Lyons, W. B. Kelly, Frank Fox, F. Reinecke, W. L. Twining, George L. Kaeding, W. G. Lauderdale, Henry A. Michels and Arthur Campbell. Six members of the board will be elected. Two additional members will be chosen by the other members after the election.

Every member of the Chamber of Commerce in good standing is eligible to vote. Ballots must all be returned before 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. They can be sent in by mail or brought in a sealed envelope to the offices of the chamber.

The Wrath To Come

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM, Copyright 1924

CHAPTER XXVI

"Heavens! Am I forgetting again!" she exclaimed. "You see, you're such a child, I always forget that you have an official connection with the great world. Of course you can say nothing. But then, as it happens, I know as much as you do. Prince Lutrecht is my husband's cousin. He came to my rooms for a few minutes this evening. I know all that transpires that can be told without an absolute breach of confidence. And I know that as yet there has been nothing serious."

"But you know there are rumors abroad?"

"Prince Lutrecht gave me a hint tonight. There is just one apple of discord that your Chief might throw upon the board."

"Shall we dance?" he begged.

She rose at once, quite willingly.

"You are a thoroughly irritating young man," she declared. I shall send for Mr. Grant Slattery to come and talk to me. He seems to pick up a wonderful amount of information, and so does Prince Lutrecht. Even my husband hears things sometimes. No one has refused me information—only you. It is either because you don't like me or you don't trust me."

"I am not my own master," he reminded her, as they started off to dance. "As it is, I have spoken more freely with you than with any one else before in my life."

They danced until the music ceased. Gertrude clapped for the encore, and they went on until the finish. Then, as they walked towards their table, she continued their conversation.

"There is something you could tell me," she said, "because, if it is true, the whole world will know it in a day or so. Does Lord Yeovil mean to once more invite America to join the Pact?"

"You have heard that spoken of?"

"I have heard it stated for a fact."

"I believe it is true," he told her.

Grant's farewell shake of the hand possessed a particular significance for Mademoiselle with the red hair, whose rent was a little in arrears. She felt the crisp paper in her palm and flashed her thanks across at him.

"T. is is too good of Monsieur," she murmured. "Because he dances so beautifully. He has no need of a lesson. I am always at his disposition."

They separated, Mademoiselle to glance at her note and find her most sanguine hopes more than realized, Grant to rejoin Itash and his imperturbable companion.

"I am in danger here," he declared. "I am of so susceptible a temperament and Mademoiselle aux cheveux roux has spoken to me of the loneliness of her life. I think I shall go back to my hotel. The sea air today was very invigorating but it also makes one inclined to sleepiness. Wherever I descend I find myself that terrible third. What happens to him in French fiction and on the stage, one knows. I think I'll depart quickly."

Itash smiled, showing his wonderful white teeth. He was more at ease now, and he was not without a sense of humor.

"Fetch Mademoiselle here," he suggested. "She is a very charming young woman and we will make a partie carree. We will see the night through and end it in my rooms with breakfast."

Grant shook his head.

"I am no longer of the age when such things attract," he sighed. "Besides which, I detest an aftermath. The nights which end with bacon and eggs and coffee offend me. I prefer they terminate with the playing of the violin to the door, the bow of the Commissionaire, the little voiture."

"Monsieur has sentiment," Cleo murmured.

"I cling to what remains of it," Grant assurred her earnestly. "When sentiment goes, then life is like the dust which the Persian poet tells us about. And so, all you young people, farewell."

He made his bow, collected his hat and coat, and departed. He left the place with the air of a conqueror. He looked back at it, metaphorically shaking his fist.

"This is a sorry triumph," he muttered, as he lit a cigarette. "There is that ass Lymane gassing away to Gertrude—thank heavens he doesn't know much—and Mademoiselle Cleo, back again under the thrall, close-lipped, close-tongued, with enough locked up at the back of her brain to make the way easy for all of us."

"Monsieur desires something?" the Commissionaire asked him wonderingly.

"Nothing in the world," Grant replied, slipping a five-franc note into his hand. "I am perfectly happy. I am going home to bed."

The man took off his hat and bowed.

"A pleasant repose to Monsieur," he said.

They sat in the luncheon room at Mont d'Agel, three very hungry but well-satisfied beings, Lord Yeovil, Susan, and Grant. They sipped their aperitifs and waited for their luncheon, "contented but eager," to use Susan's own expression.

"The match was a good one," Grant conceded, "but no Prime Minister has a right to hole out like your father, Lady Susan. Affairs of state and all that sort of thing ought to interfere and make him raise his head."

"That putt at the sixteenth was sheer robbery," she agreed.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Adam and Eva" was presented this afternoo nat the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre and will be offered for the last time tonight at 8:15 o'clock. Next week, startling Wednesday, the Dobinson Players will present the popular Harvard prize play "Mamma's Affair," by Rachel Barber Butler, it is announced by Mrs. Florence Dobinson.

Gertrude Kellar will take the lead, supported by Joseph McManus. Others announced for the cast include William H. Stephens, Mary Isabelle Alpaugh, Richard Ehlers, Thyra Ruhland and Laura Winsten.

Mrs. Florence Dobinson, who brought the Dobinson Players to Glendale and is leading them by successive stages to a larger and larger success, states that she is much gratified by the way the Glendale theatre-goers are turning out for her offerings.

THE GLENDALE

"The Sawdust Trail" concludes today at the Glendale Theatre. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday the feature is a film version of Booth Tarkington's play, "The Turmoil."

THE T. D. & L.

"Three Women" concludes today at the T. D. & L. Theatre. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday the feature is "In Every Woman's Life," with Lloyd Hughes and Virginia Valli.

THE GATEWAY

"Feet of Clay," Cecil B. De Mille's latest production for Paramount, which features Rod La Rocque, Vera Reynolds, Victor Varconi, Ricardo Cortez, Julia Faye, Theodore Kosloff and Robert Edeson, shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Gateway theatre. The story is an adaptation of the immensely popular magazine serial by that name by Margaretta Tuttle. Beulah Marie Dix and Bertram Millhauser wrote the screen play.

Traveling in its locale between a brilliant winter resort, a poor Harlem flat and a gorgeous eye-filling home of wealth, "Feet of Clay" is one of the most entertaining productions DeMille has ever offered the picture public.

The story starts with a yachting party at Catalina island. All sorts of beach novelties are worked into a series of colorful scenes, which in costume combine bathing suits on lovely girls with the latest summer creations of the modiste and the tailor. The eye-filling piece de resistance is a race between twenty girls in jockey bathing suits on surfboards behind fast speedboats.

Capping the beach scenes is a luxurious sequence aboard the world's largest yacht. It is amidst the spacious comfort of this 300-foot pleasure craft that dramatic scenes occur following a water series where La Rocque's foot is mangled in a fight with a shark.

In the story Julia Faye, wealthy half-sister of the penniless Vera Reynolds, has a "society cat" part of the sort which gained her such a reputation in "Saturday Night," "Triumph" and other pictures. She, her husband, Robert Edeson, and Ricardo Cortez, wealthy and in love with Vera Reynolds, form interlocking cogs in a plot which leads to dramatic consequences when La Rocque's foot makes it necessary for his new wife to support her husband. Misunderstanding is bred by the situation, which De Mille solves in a unique manner.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BILLIE'S BOOSTER

"Uncle Wiggily, would you mind going over to the hollow tree house of Mrs. Bushytail, the squirrel lady, for me?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one morning.

"I shall go with pleasure," answered the bunny gentleman. "I shall also go with my pink, twinkling nose," and he laughed at this, for, of course, he couldn't go without his pink, twinkling nose, now, could he?"

"Well, then," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, "I wish you would go to Mrs. Bushytail's and ask her to let me have some hickory nuts. I am going to make you a nut cake."

"Oh, joy!" cried Uncle Wiggily, and he hopped so fast over the fields and through the woods to the squirrel lady's house that he almost lost his little stumpy tail from behind him—not quite, but almost.

Uncle Wiggily knocked with an acorn on the hollow tree and Mrs. Bushytail, looking out of a knot hole and seeing who it was, called:

"Come in."

So in hopped the bunny.

"Just sit down and wait a moment and I'll get you some hickory nuts for Nurse Jane," said Mrs. Bushytail. And when Uncle Wiggily sat down he happened to notice that over in the corner of the room Billie Bushytail, the squirrel, was busy with paper and string.

"Are you making a kite, Billie?" asked Mr. Longears.

"No," Uncle Wiggily, answered the squirrel boy. "I am making me a booster."

"What's a booster?" inquired Uncle Wiggily.

"I'll show it to you as soon as I have it finished," promised Billie.

Just then Mrs. Bushytail came down from the attic, carrying her apron filled with hickory nuts, so, for the time being, Uncle Wiggily forgot all about Billie's booster.

But, all of a sudden, when the rabbit gentleman was ready to go home, carrying the nuts, all of a sudden there sounded just behind him a noise like a gun going off: "Bang!"

"Bless my pink, twinkling nose!" cried Uncle Wiggily, jumping up in the air and spilling all the hickory nuts. "What was that?"

"Ha! Ha! That was my booster!" chattered Billie, laughing as he scampered about the room.

"What do you mean—your booster?" asked Uncle Wiggily, sarcastic like.

"Why, I took a paper bag and blew it up full of air," explained Billie. "Then I tied a string around it so the air wouldn't come out. Then I put the bag on the floor and jumped on it and it went off with a bang and boosted you up in the air, Uncle Wiggily. It made you jump, just as if you were boosted up—so I call the bag my booster."

"Well, it certainly made a noise like a gun, and, as you say, I jumped," laughed the rabbit. "So I suppose I was boosted."

"You shouldn't do that, Billie," said his mother. "Now help Uncle Wiggily pick up the hickory nuts," which the squirrel boy did. And just as Uncle Wiggily started home again, Mrs. Bushytail looked from her window and cried:

"Oh, don't go out! The Wicked Weasel is waiting on the steps to catch you!"

"I'll fix that Weasel with another booster!" whispered Billie. So he blew up another paper bag full of wind, and burst it near the door. And the Weasel jumped and boosted himself off the steps.

"Oh, a hunter with a gun shot at me!" whimpered the Weasel, and away he ran so Uncle Wiggily could go safely home with the nuts.

And if the piano doesn't try to crawl inside the radio loud speaker to see where the music comes from, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the cranberries.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

Yesterday I gave you general directions for feeding during the second year, taken from my book, "Diet for Children." Today, I will give you the feeding tables to the fifteenth month, also taken from "Diet for Children." These are the same tables I gave in the column some time back, and I have had many hundreds of letters from mothers who have followed them, testifying that their children have benefited by following them.

Important! If your babies have not been having solid foods up to the twelfth month, begin as you would at the sixth month. You can increase the foods a little faster, but be cautious. The babies may and probably will refuse the solid foods. If so, withhold the milk and starve them to it. It won't hurt them. A twelve or even a twenty-four-hour fast (with plenty of water) will usually convince them you mean business. Be prepared for a stormy time and warn your neighbors so they won't have you up before the anti-cruelty society. Has happened!

Table of Feeding From Twelfth to Fifteenth Month—

(Calories, 800 to 1100)

6 a. m.—Milk, eight ounces, from cup by thirteenth month. (No sugar.) Dry crisp bread and butter; about one-third ordinary slice; increase gradually. Juice one orange at 9 a. m.

10 a. m.—Milk, eight ounces from cup. Cooked cereal, three to four level tablespoonfuls, with milk (part of above) on it. (No sugar.) Dry crisp bread and butter, one-third to one-half slice. Egg yolk two or three times a week or oftener; cooked slightly or raw—on toast or in milk.

2 p. m.—Milk, four to eight ounces, from cup. (No sugar.) After solid food eaten. Meat or vegetable broths (three to four ounces), with rice or stale bread in it two or three times a week. Crisp bread and butter. Scraped beef or cottage cheese, one tablespoonful, two or three times a week when meat broths are not given. Cleaned bone to bite and suck on, two or three times a week. Pureed vegetables, three to four tablespoonfuls. (Potato and one other. Spinach, three to four times a week, if possible.) Fruit pulp cooked or raw, two to four level tablespoonfuls.

6 p. m.—Milk, eight ounces from cup (no sugar) after solid foods eaten. Dry crisp bread and butter, one-third to one-half slice. Cereal, one-fourth to one-half cupful—some of above milk in it. Fruit pulp, one to two tablespoonfuls. Water, one-half to one glass between meals.

Answers to Mothers—

Mrs. A.—As your boy's father shows so little understanding of children and is actually cruel, it seems to me that the wiser course is to keep the boy in the high-class private boarding school to which you are sending him. Misunderstandings and cruelty in childhood too often make such indelible impressions that the future mental, moral and even physical well-being is jeopardized.

You say that the one thing that is worrying you is that while the children look well nourished, very little milk is given to them. Undoubtedly if this is a high standard school, they have somebody installed who knows about dietetics who looks after the menus; and perhaps on further investigation, you will find that the milk is served in the form of custards, soups, cottage cheese, and so forth. Children should have the equivalent of at least three glasses of milk every day. If you find that this is not given at the boys' school, I would suggest that you speak to the management about it.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Miss B.: "I believe some of the other readers of your column would enjoy the kind of biscuits I make with frankfurters in them. I simply follow the directions for Quick Biscuits on the baking powder can, but after cutting out the dough I make a slit in it and put a frankfurter inside the biscuit, then pinch the slit part together over the frankfurter and bake the biscuits just as usual. Sometimes I make them with bread dough, too."

T. E.: "My Orange Jelly: Wash six red ball oranges and three lemons. Cut in very thin slices, measure, add three times the measure of water. Boil hard for one hour, then strain through double cheesecloth and let stand twenty-four hours. Pour off the clear liquid. To it add an equal quantity of sugar. Boil till it drips like jelly from a spoon. Put into sterile glasses and when firm cover with melted paraffine."

Mrs. T. L.: "My Buttermilk Cake: Mix together one cup of brown sugar, one-half cup of butter, and one cup of raisins. Stir well, then add one teaspoon each of ground cinnamon and nutmeg, and also add one cup of buttermilk in which one teaspoon of soda has been dissolved. Mix thoroughly and beat in one-half teaspoon of salt and two cups of flour. Again beat, then flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla. Bake in moderate oven for thirty or thirty-five minutes. Here is another good recipe:

"Nut Bars: Beat two eggs, with a pinch of salt, till light, then add one tablespoon of granulated sugar, and one cup of brown sugar, and again beat well. Stir in four tablespoons of flour and one-half cup of chopped nuts. Bake in a sheet pan in a hot over for twenty minutes."

Mrs. C.: "My Ice Cream: (Very cheap). Beat two eggs and add to them two scant tablespoons of flour, one cup of granulated sugar and one and one-fourth teaspoons of salt. Turn this mixture into one quart of sweet milk heated fairly hot, then cook all together till it is the consistency of thin custard, stirring constantly. Remove from fire before boiling point is reached, and add one or two tablespoons of flavoring extract. Freeze as usual. For Chocolate Ice Cream melt one square of chocolate in the milk or melt it over hot water and add to the milk."

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

GARGLING

With so many scientific lotions for cleansing the mouth and throat, and with so much known about the teeth and digestion, there is no reason why anyone should have a bad breath. If this trouble is chronic, it may take you a long time to get rid of it, and you will probably have to go through a strict course of diet and purgatives. But if it is merely intermittent, comes in the morning before breakfast, or when you have gone an unusual length of time without eating, then you will find a remedy in gargling the throat and rinsing the mouth with antiseptic lotions.

Few people know that one of the best remedies for acidity of the stomach, and for either the resultant headache or bad breath, is ten drops of ammonia water drunk in a glass of cold water. If the odor results from eating onions, a glass of milk or a sprig of parsley is an easy cure.

The Japanese method for overcoming any type of bad breath is to chew cinnamon bark. It is strange that we have been so slow to adopt this valuable antiseptic, for cinnamon destroys infectious microbes that lodge in the throat, besides giving a pleasant odor to the breath. A valuable antiseptic gargle is made by putting a generous pinch of powdered cinnamon into half a cup of hot water.

Peppermint is a good mouth rinse if bad breath is the result of imperfect teeth. If you have acid mouth or acid stomach, mix one teaspoonful of milk of magnesia with two of cold water, rinse the mouth with this preparation, then swallow it. Mouth, throat and digestion all derive the benefit of this splendid alkali. If you have impure breath as the result of a cold or sore throat, the good old-fashioned remedy of a strong, hot salt water gargle cannot be bettered.

There are any number of antiseptic breath pastiles on the market which are useful. Do not buy the sweet, scented variety in preference to the antiseptic ones. Plain charcoal tablets are much better and pastiles with cinnamon or myrrh best of all.

Pearl W.: Freckles can be bleached, but that does not mean they will not return. Freckles and tan are the result of impigmentation which protects the skin from being injured through too much exposure to the sun. It would take constant bleaching to keep the freckles off and such treatment would surely harm the skin. I will be glad to send you the formula for my cucumber bleach if you forward a stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing.

Sunny: At 17½ years, with a height of 5 feet 3 inches, you should weigh 110 pounds. Drink a quart of milk each day to gain in weight.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Card Club Party

The Glendale Five-hundred club was entertained Thursday at 1315 East Harvard, with Mrs. Mary Hadsell hostess for the affair, which included an elaborate noon dinner. Choice chrysanthemums of various colors were used in decorating throughout the rooms. Five-hundred was played. Mrs. Adelaide Myers won first prize. Mrs. Hadsell and Mrs. Frances Shadbolt tied the score for second place and were awarded second and third prizes. Those present were Mesdames Winnie Hartley, Fanny Groutage, Josephine Hollenbeck, Clara Fry, Marjorie Pease, Evelyn Hall, Sadie Bronnenberg, Anna Esterly, Ione Springer, Frances Shadbolt and Adelaide Myers. The affair was also a welcoming home for Mrs. Pease, marking her first appearance at the club since her return from an absence of several months in the east. The regular meeting day for the club which has been Wednesdays, has been changed permanently to Thursday for the future. Mrs. Adelaide Myers of Fairmont street will entertain the club at the next meeting, December 4.

Birthday Today

Mrs. George D. Miles of 247 North Verdugo road was hostess this afternoon at a party celebrating the tenth birthday of her son, Donald. Thanksgiving and harvest time favors were used as features. Pumpkins and chocolate turkeys were part of the birthday luncheon appointments. Boys who helped Donald celebrate his birthday were Lloyd Calahan, Robert Calkins, Frank Howe, jr., Henry Hasty, Norman Parker and Alfred Lofleur of Los Angeles.

Meeting at School

The Acacia Parent-Teacher association held an enthusiastic meeting at the school yesterday afternoon, 100 members being present. Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president of the Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher associations, gave a talk on the work of the Parent-Teacher associations, telling of the work the associations are doing not only in California but throughout the United States for the welfare of the children. Two instrumental musical numbers were presented by Mabelle Belfils Clement and her pupil, Miss Bessie Cookman, of Inglewood. Mrs. R. N. Stryker, president, conducted the business session, when work on the cook book, which the association will have published on December 10, was discussed. The kindergarten won the pennant for having the largest number of mothers present at the meeting. Room mothers of the school are planning a community Christmas tree to be held in the court at the school on the evening of December 12. The Kindergarten club will hold a party for mothers and fathers of the Acacia school on the same evening that the Christmas tree will be held. A silver tea is being planned to be held on December 4. No meetings of the association will be held during December. Preceding the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Ethel Gardner, courtesy chairman, and a social time enjoyed. The Kindergarten club held a food sale yesterday and made $19.

Six Birthdays

The Wilson Needlecraft club entertained with a most enjoyable affair Wednesday night, November 19, at the home of Mrs. H. H. Pettit, 440 West Wilson avenue. It was given in honor of six club members whose birthday anniversaries occur during the month of November. Special guests were husbands of the members. The guests of honor were Mesdames C. S. McKee, F. H. Stahl, Eda Lord, C. K. Todd, Belle Taylor and L. H. Beck. The rooms of the Pettit home were decorated throughout with pink roses. After an evening of games and listening in on the radio, a luncheon was served. The guests were seated at two long tables each centered with pink roses. The colors of pink, white and green were used in all the appointments and menu. Six birthday cakes, each bearing six candles, were presented the honorees.

The placecards for the guests of honor were tiny birthday cakes and each one was presented with a birthday favor, suggestive of her particular hobby. Mrs. Lord received a canoe; Mrs. Todd a dog; Mrs. McKee a sedan; Mrs. Beck a horn; Mrs. Taylor a horse and Mrs. Stahl a doll.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Todd, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Stahl, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. McKee, Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Beck, Mrs. Eda Lord, Mr and Mrs. John McGregor, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Forrester, Mrs. Olive Key, Miss Olive Beck and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Pettit.

Honor Couple

Mrs. Charles D. Shattuck and her daughter, Mrs. Emil O. Kiefer were joint hostesses at a party given at the Shattuck home, 320 West Myrtle street Thursday night. The affair was in the nature of a surprise miscellaneous shower for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiefer, who were married in August, but only recently announced their marriage. The Frank Kiefers reside at 410 West Maple street. The rooms of the Shattuck home were attractively decorated with autumn colors and blue, the small tables, where refreshments were served, being decorated with candles and blue favor baskets. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiefer were the recipients of many articles including silver, cut glass, china and linen for their new home. Twenty relatives and close friends were present. Games were played during the evening and a two course luncheon was served by the hostesses.

Harvest Festival

A harvest home festival was given last night at the Casa Verdugo Methodist church by the Central Avenue Parent-Teacher association for teachers and fathers of the school. It was declared to be one of the most enjoyable social affairs ever sponsored by the association. Over 300 school patrons were present. Decorations carried out the spirit of Thanksgiving time, cornstalks, chrysanthemums, red apples and orange and black crepe paper being used. The program included vocal numbers by J. Floyd McMaster, Misses Claycomb, Ethel I. Culbertson, Hazel L. Flynn, Taylor, Lorine Czerniski and Mrs. John W. Cotton. Miss Ellis gave readings and she and Mrs. E. R. Ripley served as accompanists. Mrs. Granville Jones directed games. Coffee and doughnuts were served.

GLENDALE AND VAN NUYS TEAMS IN TIE

FIRST ROUND OF PLAYOFF FAILS TO DECIDE ISSUE

Grid Squads Will Meet Again Next Thursday at Broadway Field to Settle Supremacy; Contest Draws Record Attendance

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

In the most thrilling game ever witnessed on the local gridiron, the Glendale Dynamiters battled the Van Nuys eleven to a 6-6 tie yesterday afternoon before a crowd of more than 5000 spectators.

As this is in the first round of play and Santa Maria, the opponents of the winner, received a bye, the game will be allowed to be replayed. The replay will be a part of Glendale's Thanksgiving program, the two teams meeting at 2:30 Turkey day on Broadway field.

The game was bitterly contested throughout. After the Dynamiters had pushed over the first touchdown in the second quarter, Bud Elliott's place-kick was blocked and Glendale lost her chance to win the game. Again in the last quarter Van Nuys went over for the tying score from the Red and Black two-yard line on a "quarterback-sneak." Robinson the big Van Nuys fullback, missed his try for the winning marker by a scant year or two.

Fumble Is Costly

Glendale missed a golden opportunity late in the second quarter when it fumbled to Van Nuys on the Red and Gray fifteen-yard line.

The Dynamiters blasted their way down the field for the first touchdown which came early in the second period. In the closing moments of the initial quarter the locals took the ball from their own thirty-five-yard mark into Van Nuys' territory on a twelve-yard gain by Carl Denney, and two runs for a total of twenty-three yards by Elmer Muff.

As the second quarter opened Bud Elliott tore off six yards on an end run and Denney made four more. Ryan went around right end for twelve yards, being stopped on the Van Nuys three-yard line. Elmer Muff took the ball across on an off-tackle play after Ryan had failed to gain. Bud Elliott's place-kick, which would have gone over, was blocked by the fighting Haymakers.

Punting Duel

After the kick-off both sides intercepted each other's forward passes and later exchanged punts. As the Dynamiters started another march toward the goal line the half ended.

The third quarter was a punting duel between Robinson and Booker. Robinson had the better of the exchanges and at the end of the quarter Van Nuys had the ball on the Glendale forty-yard line, in spite of the fact that Glendale had made two first downs during the period.

A long pass, Robinson to Ryan, netted thirty yards and took the ball dangerously close to Glendale's goal. On the nextplay Glendale let Ikegami through and the little Japanese, leaping high in the air, speared another pass by Robinson. This brought the ball to Glendale's seven-yard line.

Van Nuys Scores

After a gain of only three paces in as many downs the Haymakers found themselves with only one try to carry the ball four yards. On the next play the Dynamiters stopped the runner on their one-yard line, but a Glendale off-side gave Van Nuys the ball on Glendale's two-yard mark and first down. Robinson "sneaked" under the center and across the line for the tying score.

After Dick Ryan had circled right and for twenty yards carrying the ball to the Red and Gray thirty-yard line, the crowd went wild and cheered for a touchdown, but the Haymakers stiffened and Booker was forced to attempt a drop-kick from the forty-yard line at a bad angle. He got the ball away in fine fashion, directly towards the uprights, but it was a little too high and fell short by less than six yards.

Van Nuys kicked out of danger, and the Dynamiters started another march towards the goal-line but a fumble ruined their chances.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Now comes Old Man Stanford with his shovel full of dirt. Norman Cleaveland, ace of the backfield, has played all season without a hint of scandal. Day before Berkeley classic some shark in higher mathematics and dark age statistics, digs up newspaper clipping showing where Cleave pinch-hit for unconscious pal in a game played in 1921 against Nevada. "Red" Grange of Cardinal outfit joins the wall flower beauties on the sidelines.

Besides dulling a lot of real color promised in game at Berkeley today, this action only goes to prove how silly some people can make rules read. Norman loses year playing five minutes. Crowds lose privilege of seeing great star in action. As far as all reason goes, no one gains either honor or glory. Silly rule when "letter-of-law" is followed.

All of which leads to peep into some of rules famous peacemakers have measured off. Uncle Sam digs into taxpayers' pockets when they slumber, takes three million, builds hull of sea fighter and calls her Washington. Peacemakers say three million hull gives Uncle Sam edge on other boys in case some-one grabs Island of Yap or Kaiser gets loose again. Mr. Wilbur orders three million hull fed to torpedoes and seaweed. Rules is Rules!

FLASH—Wild Bull Firpo growing moustache to disguise Jersey mosquito tracks on upper lip.

When you meet Abe Levinsky steaming over his father's pants presser on New York's East Side, you know him as just plain Abe. When you meet that same Abe few years later in Madison Square Garden, you know him as Knockout Casey or Kid Murphy. No more Abe. All of which goes to prove Knute Rockne and his Shamrocks aren't kidding anyone when they fight.

Now comes a real Irishman from the desert patches of Arizona and calls himself only half of Ireland. How Pat ever got handled onto Lester no one knows. Pat is the long stretch of Irish that drew heavily on the "fillum" colony last night when he exchanged slaps with one Ralph Smith at Legion stadium in "wild" Hollywood.

Pat shoves aside more ether when he stands up than Fred Fulton when he lays down. Pat is one of the million gents now forming to the right for Dempsey's title. If looks ain't deceiving and the Irish in him doesn't fall asleep, it won't be long now. Pat has a reach longer than Community Chest drive. That reach, plus a lot of Ireland, should tickle title away from Champion Jack.

Added to Pat's Irish and reach is "a little spot in Ireland," yclept Spider Kelly. Spider is to Pat what Colonel House was to Wilson. Spider has seen more fights than "One-Eyed" Connelly has crashed gates. Plus seeing a lot of 'em, Spider carries all earmarks of having had his share of Ireland's great sport. Spider tells what the other guy does, may do, and probably will do,' if he doesn't follow Spider's advice.

Spider's side-kick and traveling companion, one Tim McGrath, also from Ireland, and presumably a fighter of the best grade. That milk they get from "contented cows" never took more medals than Tim. Tim sticks pretty close to the water bucket in Pat's corner, and what Spider can't see Tim does. Tim was fighting before anything but bare knuckles came into good taste. With that talent in his corner Pat Lester ought to reach Dempsey size fight.

Tomorrow night—Prayer meeting.

Compton Eleven Wins Title In Bay League

The title in Class A of the Bay league was won yesterday by Compton, when the Midway City eleven downed the Redondo team, 19 to 0. Compton scored a touchdown in the opening quarter and kicked goal. Another touchdown was made in the third quarter and the final period saw six more points added. By virtue of the win, which is the first football championship for Compton, the eleven will meet the winner of the Pomona-El Centro game. Pomona and El Centro mix this afternoon at El Centro.

L. A. Council Approves Health Commissioner

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—After hot debate the City Council has confirmed Mayor George Cryer's appointment of Dr. George Parrish of Portland, Ore., as Los Angeles health commissioner.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—In transferring his allegiance from the Washington club to Oakland, Cal., Walter Johnson has created an unusual situation in baseball. He has the right, of course, to withdraw from Washington, and Washington has the right to give him his unconditional release. But other clubs of both majors must give their consent, tacit at least, before Johnson can be dropped from the big show outright.

The rule in organized baseball says that, if a club gives notice to its league president of intention to release a player unconditionally, any other club in the same league shall have the right to the assignment of the player's contract, such right to be exercised within ten days. If, at the end of that time, no club has put in a claim for the player's services, the other major league is free to contract with him.

As Johnson is a veteran player, having served more than ten years in the majors, the Washington club must tender an assignment of his contract to other clubs through the regular waiver channels. Should any club refuse to waive its claim to Johnson, Washington could withdraw waiver. If it failed to withdraw its waiver, however, the club that claimed him would be forced to accept him as a regular player.

Some years ago it happened that the Pittsburgh club wished to give Gibson, its crack catcher, his unconditional release under the veteran clause. New York, not knowing Gibson had been promised his freedom, claimed him, as the Giants were badly in need of a catcher. Gibson went up in the air, accused Dreyfuss of doublecrossing him, and refused to report to New York. He stayed out all season, going to the Giants the next year as coach.

If there is some club that wishes to claim the services of Johnson, there is no way the Washington club can prevent it. But any major club that claimed him woul dhear a roar of disapproval from the public, and, in all probability, the claiming club would not get him anyhow, as Washington very likely would withdraw its waiver.

If Johnson's departure were hampered in any such way, he still could refuse to play ball for Washington or any club that claimed him, and could go on out west and run his ball club there. He could not, however, pitch for Oakland, as he has been planning to do on a few special occasions. Neither could he participate as active manager on the field, for Washington would have to list him as an ineligible, and ineligibles cannot serve in any playing capacity in organized baseball.

This would be a sad blow to the Johnson-Weiss plans, for one of the things the new owners are counting on is an era of big receipts all around the circuit on the first appearance Johnson makes in each city of the league. It's a blow, however, that public sentiment is pretty likely to prevent any major league baseball magnate from inflicting.

BOXING NOTES

Pat Lester and Ralph Smith slashed their way through four rounds to a draw last night at Hollywood American Legion stadium. Ray Neumann gave Fred Cullen a lot of punishment, but lacked the steam to put him down for the full count. Frankie Osner won over Joe Sousa. Sailor Muratt and Young Danny drew. Kid Payo lost a close decision to Joe Avery. Young Papke got an unpopular decision over Young Burmay. Sailor Hendricks won over Hank Gratton.

AT NEW YORK—Danny Kramer, Philadelphia, defeated Mike Lundee, Rock Island, Ill., ten rounds; Louis "Kid" Kaplan, Meriden, Conn., won decision over Bobby Garcia, Camp Holabird, Md., ten rounds; Jose Lombardo, Panama, outpointed Lew Paluso, Salt Lake City, ten rounds.

AT TOLEDO—Carl Tremaine, Cleveland, easily won from Bobby Wolgast, Philadelphia, twelve rounds; Tommy Murray, Philadelphia, defeated Louis D'Arco, Cleveland, twelve rounds.

AT DETROIT—Bob Sage, Detroit, awarded decision over Billy Britton; K. O. Jeakle, Toledo, won judges' verdict over Red Herring.

AT LOS ANGELES—Pat Lester of San Francisco boxed draw with Ralph Smith, Los Angeles heavyweight.

$50,000 Bail Set for Wealthy Movie Actor

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Bail was increased to $50,000 today in the case of Charles Westcott, millionaire's son and motion picture cowboy, charged with criminal attack upon Olive Fern Elliott, screen actress. Westcott was captured here after a sensational chase of two years.

GRID CHAMPS DISCOVER NEW JOB

Brown U. Football Stars Give Blood To Pay College Tuition

By LLOYD MAYER
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 22.—Legion are the jobs by which students at universities throughout the country seek to pay the expenses of their education, but three Brown students, rugged football stars, have evolved the most startling "get rich quick" scheme ever devised by a needy undergraduate.

Adolph W. Eckstein, mighty center of the football team and captain of the Bruin wrestlers this year, first devised the idea. A candidate this fall for the all-eastern gridiron honors, he has made it the unconventional vogue for Brown athletes to barter their life's blood for gold.

Twice he has sacrificed a pint of his blood since the 1924 football season began in October. Yet his playing in the Bruin line has been topnotch all season. Last year he sold a quart of the precious fluid for $100, later trading a pint for half that sum.

Others Follow Example

Hearing of the success of his example, two other football stars at Brown found that their blood was equally in demand and have followed suit, disposing of a pint apiece at the market price.

The trio of brawny youths, Eckstein of Elizabeth, N. J.; Fred Sweet of Philadelphia and Thomas Johnson of Lansford, Pa., all seniors, together sold five pints of their blood for a total of $250 during the gridiron season that fall.

Dish washing, waiting on table, tending furnaces and other employment of a similar nature takes a lot of time and is not particularly remunerative, considering the amount of effort involved, according to the three pioneers of a new "self help" era in university life.

Four Types of Blood

If you are a healthy young animal, whose blood tests to the rigorous standard demanded in the delicate operation of transfusion, why not take a chance on a sporting proposition, they ask, pointing out that Eckstein, despite the fact that he had undergone a transfusion operation only a short time before the Yale-Brown game was credited with outplaying Captain Lovejoy of the Blue, all-American choice for the position last year.

Four types of blood are found in the human body. One type, large quantities of which were kept on hand in field hospitals for emergency cases during the world war, is known as "universal blood." And it is this coveted type which flows in the veins of Brown's three daring gridders. Blood of this type is suitable for all transfusion operations, whereas blood of the three remaining types may only be used in instances where it is synonymous with the life fluid flowing in the veins of the patient receiving the transfusion.

The person giving the blood will recuperate to normal physical strength within from 18 to 24 hours following the operation, doctors say. But they say that from three to four days is required for the donor's blood to make up the exhausted corpuscles.

'Rabbit' Maranville Is Held Reckless Driver

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.—While Robert J. "Rabbit" Maranville, former member of the Pittsburgh National baseball team, was free today on $1,000 bail after being arrested on a charge of reckless driving, Frank Smaydo, 5, is in a serious condition in the Mercy hospital here, suffering from a fractured skull, received when he was said to have been pushed in front of an automobile driven by the former Pirate player. The ball player took the lad to the hospital, after which he was arrested.

Plan Training Course In Church Membership

A new feature will be added to the work of the Grand View Community Presbyterian church tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock when the young people, who are preparing for church membership to be enrolled with the charter members, will meet at the school for service preceding the regular preaching service. A course of training and practice to fit them for competent and useful church membership will be given. A social time will be enjoyed for a short period after the meeting. Young people of the district are invited to attend.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—One of the most important developments of the present football season—perhaps the most important—is the discovery by not a few coaches and trainers that too much practice scrimmaging is the worst thing that can be done to a football outfit.

In the two weeks before the Yale game the Dartmouth eleven reduced scrimmaging to a minimum, and this practice obtained in Hanover throughout the remainder of the season. Results have certainly been favorable.

Yale, in the week between her games against Maryland and Princeton, did not scrimmage at all. Tad Jones had intended some hard practice, but yielded to the advice of the trainer, George Conners, and his assistants. Certainly Jones can have no regrets that he followed counsel so sagely.

The secret of Princeton's ability to play a hard game against Harvard year after year and then meet Yale without apparent loss of vitality and endurance has been because of Keene Fitzpatrick's policy of few scrimmages. Princeton's perceptive sag against Yale this year related entirely to attack, not to defense, and thus indicated that the lesion was mental—due to psychology, which plays so important a part in modern football—rather than physical.

Wise trainers throughout the country have come to learn that the grind of constant scrimmaging against scrub or freshman elevens takes more out of the varsity than games against regular opponents, much more. Many a varsity man has told the writer that the rigors of daily scrimmaging caused him to look upon regular games very much in the light of recreation.

Trainers and coaches throughout the country who have not fallen in with this trend could adopt it with absolute benefit to their teams.

Talk is heard in the far west, according to information reaching the writer today, that the University of Southern California may be dropped from the Pacific coast conference. Washington, Idaho and Oregon are said to favor such a move. If stories that are told be true, U. S. C. is suffering from the activities of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, which body has been anxious to produce a Pacific coast champion.

Friends of the University of California allege that U. S. C.'s counter-charges against California players in the Cole eligibility case were smoke screen stuff. It is also said that the southerners investigated Nevers of Stanford in regular Sherlock Holmes fashion, but without results.

For their game at Berkeley today, California and Stanford have a financial arrangement that has rather a Shylockian tang. Stanford will receive one-half of the receipts up to the seating capacity of her own stadium, which is 62,000. The difference between this and 73000—the seating capacity of the new memorial stadium at Berkeley—goes to the University of California without having to divide it. Suppose Yale, with her 80,000 capacity bowl should insist upon such arrangement with Harvard and Princeton, which have arenas of smaller capacity? The Big Three would not last long.

Students of California and Stanford have paid $2.50 each for their tickets, while the alumni and general public have been obliged to pay $5 apiece for their pasteboards.

What was Georgia thinking of in asking her players to tackle Alabama, the leading team in the Southern conference, on Thanksgiving day and then stacking them against the powerful Centre eleven two days later? It is a pretty tall order the Bull Dogs have to meet.

White Sox Journey to Goodyear Park Sunday

For the first time since the Southern California Winter league schedule opened, the Glendale White Sox will be the traveling team tomorrow. Frank Kerwin's crew will journey to Goodyear park, Los Angeles, where the pale hose players will meet the St. Louis Giants.

Ken Penner, pitching ace of the Vernon Tigers, or Jack Emerson, White Sox outfielder, who sprang a surprise last week when he held the Pasadena crew to five hits, will do the mound work.

Largest Women's Law Club In State Here

In the Parliamentary Law club of Glendale, this city possesses the largest law club in the Los Angeles district, California Federation of Women's clubs, it was learned at the club meeting yesterday at the public library. Under the direction of Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, president, review of Gleason's manual was begun. Mrs. P. S. McNutt, well known Glendale parliamentarian, was one of the interested attendants at the club meeting.

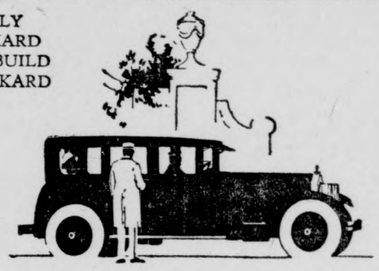
ONLY PACKARD CAN BUILD A PACKARD



NO AMOUNT OF MONEY CAN BUY ITS EQUAL

Packard Eight was designed and built to satisfy every requirement of those who seek the very best in every phase of motoring.

That is why you will find the Packard Eight the most interesting of all motor cars. Look it over carefully. You will not find its equal either in America or Europe.

Here is a car not excessive in price, yet one that represents the greatest possible luxury in motoring.

Even unlimited money could not build or buy its equal for distinction and performance.

It took the traditions, ideals and experience of a 25-year old organization of great engineering and manufacturing resources to produce it.

Packard Eight beauty and charm are qualities that can be easily seen at a glance. But it takes a ride to appreciate the performance of its motor, its steering and riding ease, its comfort.

When you have had that experience you will have new reasons for saying: "Only Packard can build a Packard."

Plan Home-Coming Day At Christian Church

The sixth annual Home Coming day will be observed at the Central Christian church tomorrow with a special program and luncheon at noon. A large number of former members and non-resident members are expected to be present for the occasion, and at least fifty persons are expected to become identified with the church during the day as the day also marks the culmination of a six weeks' visiting program. After the morning service luncheon will be served and those attending are requested to bring sandwiches. The remainder of the meal will be provided. A short program will be given later in the afternoon.

Rev. J. W. Utter, first pastor of the Central Christian church, and Rev. W. F. Richardson, for twenty-six years pastor of the First Christian church of Kansas City, Mo., and for eight years pastor of the Hollywood Christian church will be present to speak. Special Thanksgiving music will be rendered at the evening service. The Bible school session of the day's program begins at 9:30 o'clock.

A RELIABLE COUGH REMEDY

Why experiment with unknown remedies for that cough or cold when you can secure FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND? It is a safe and reliable remedy for the relief of coughs, colds, hoarseness. Equally beneficial for young and old. Mrs. Anna Cornell, Bridgeton, N. J., states: "I bought FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND for my cold and find it great." Insist upon the genuine. Refuse substitutes.

Just 1 Left

On that sightly slope, just beyond Brand's castle, where the regular price of a good big lot is anywhere from $3000 to $6500. We have JUST ONE left at

Only $1500

It will be sold tomorrow—Sunday—that's the surest bet in the world. A little later, when you are out driving by there, taking in the sunset some fine evening, DON'T be one of those tiresome "might-have-beeners"—"I could have bought a big lot here, a few weeks ago, for etc., etc., etc." Instead, GO OUT TOMORROW, SUNDAY—GO IN THE MORNING, don't wait until afternoon when all the others go—and secure this Big 63-Ft. Lot for Only $1500—A First Payment of $375 and It Is YOURS!

Two years to pay the balance, quarterly. If it isn't a $3000 lot—based upon any comparison—it isn't worth a nickel. If you are too late for this EXACTLY HALF PRICE homesite, we have several others, that, while the price hasn't been cut as much as this one, still are at least $1000 under ALL OTHERS. A big 65-ft. corner—NORTH and EAST FRONT—on a through street—for ONLY $2500. This was originally priced at $4500, and WORTH MORE. EASY TERMS on this also. Building restrictions, $6000; surrounding properties restricted higher. Nothing cheap here but our price on these few lots. Once again, let me reiterate—WHEN THIS OPPORTUNITY IS GONE IT IS GONE FOREVER, as far as buying a homesite in this district at anywhere near what we offer you TODAY. If you mean business, we can show you more for your money than you EVER SAW BEFORE. But you cannot delay another day now.

Go Out Tomorrow
SUNDAY!

Don't all wait until afternoon. Drive out Brand boulevard to Kenneth road, west to Grand View, north to Mountain avenue, at Brand's castle, then west about 3 blocks to

The construction of vitrified pipe sewers, together with manholes, cesspools, junction chambers, frames and covers, flush tanks, lampholes, plugs, house connections and appurtenances, and otherwise improving portions of Palmer Avenue, Adams Street, Crescent Drive, Cornell Drive, Cambridge Drive, Columbia Drive, Dartmouth Drive, Wellesley Drive, Tyler Street, Green Street, Marion Drive, Scofield Drive, Yale Drive, Princeton Drive, and Berkley Drive, within the City of of Glendale, as described in Resolution of Intention No. 2643, passed by the Council of said City on the 30th day of October, 1924, and on file in the office of the City Clerk of said City, to which said Resolution reference is hereby made for a more particular description of said work.

Specifications referred to in said description are on file in the office of the City Clerk and also posted near the Chamber Door of the said Council. Plats, plans, drawings, profiles and cross-sections referred to in said description are on file in the office of the City Engineer of said City. The district to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses of said work and improvement is described in said Resolution of Intention No. 2643.

The Council of the City of Glendale has determined and declared that serial bonds bearing interest at the rate of seven per cent (7%) per annum, shall be issued to represent each assessment of twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) or more, remaining unpaid for twenty (20) days after the date of the warrant. Said serial bonds shall extend over a period ending nine (9) years, from the second day of January next succeeding the fifteenth day of the next November following their date. Payments on the principal of the unpaid assessments and interest shall be made by property owners to the City Treasurer, and the same shall be disbursed by him, all as provided in the "Improvement Act of 1911."

The proposals or bids offered shall be accompanied by a check payable to the said City, certified by a responsible bank for an amount which shall not be less than ten (10) per cent of the aggregate of the proposal, or by a bond for the said amount and so payable, signed by the bidder and two sureties, who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath for double the said amount, and over and above all statutory exemptions.

In bidding use blanks which will be furnished by the City Engineer upon application.

Cardinals, Berkeley In Annual Football Clash

son. As a result the most of the past week has been one of rest for the players on the two teams.

The whole bay district was a riotous display of the rival colors of the two institutions today. The Gold and Blue of California and the Cardinal and White of Stanford everywhere gave evidence of the fact that the community had but one thought today—"the big game."

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford emphasized today that Norman Cleaveland would not play. Talk that alumni of the two institutions would seek to have him reinstated because of the technical nature of his ineligibility was answered by the firm statement of Dr. Wilbur that Cleaveland having been declared ineligible by the athletic council, would not play.

Harvard and Yale Meet In Contest at New Haven

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Intercollegiate football will begin the opening notes of its swan song for the 1924 season this afternoon with the meeting of many rivals on many and widely separated fields. The Harvard-Yale game at New Haven is only one of a series of great games in prospect.

In the middle west, Chicago will fight for its first big ten championship in many years when it faces Wisconsin. Illinois, dying hard, will take on Ohio State, Indiana clashes with Purdue and Iowa will play Michigan. The final conference rating will be determined by these meetings. The unbeaten Notre Dame team also takes on a Conference foe, Northwestern, and must win handily to retain its great prestige. The Drake-Iowa State game is another big timer for this section.

Important Battles

In the far west California takes on Stanford, its traditional rival, in a game that will determine the coast championship, while Nebraska will endeavor to improve its position in the Missouri Valley conference at the expense of the Kansas Aggies.

The east also runs strongly to the rival versus rivals proposition, the schedule including games between Colgate and Syracuse, La Fayette and Lehigh and the so-called little "Quakers," Swarthmore and Haverford.

The south's best game will be between Mississippi Aggies and Florida, with the Mississippi college-Mississippi university affair a close second.

Wilson Instructors to Speak at P.-T. A. Meet

Teachers of the Wilson Intermediate school will speak Monday afternoon at the Parent-Teachers' association at 3 o'clock in the school auditorium. Each teacher will tell of study included in the school curriculum. Mrs. Arthur Franklin, president, asks that school patrons take advantage of this opportunity to meet the teachers and hear of the school work.

Thanksgiving Service At Grand View Church

Community Thanksgiving service will be held at the Grand View Community Presbyterian church Wednesday night, November 26 and announcements regarding the service are being left at each house in the community by the Boy Scouts of the church. "The Land of Thanksgiving" will be theme of the sermon which Rev. George W. Thomas will deliver. Special Thanksgiving music is being prepared.

EDUCATION WEEK ENDS IN GLENDALE

Grand View Pupils Totaling 475 March In Honor Of Occasion

National Education week at the Grand View school was brought to a fitting close yesterday, when a parade was held at 11 o'clock. The entire school of 475 children took part in the parade, while 188 mothers viewed the parade and also visited the children in their classrooms. Leading the parade were boys carrying Old Glory, trophy banners won by the school in athletic events and the Boys' Loyalty parade.

Members of the senior athletic team followed behind their float of blue and white, the juniors with their float of red and white, the midgets with their float of green and white. Each boy wore an arm band of blue, red or green, with the initials "G. V." in white. The girls' volley ball team marched after the midgets. These were from the 6-A and 6-B grades, of which Mrs. Westerhout is the teacher; 5-A and 5-B, of which Mrs Blankenship is the teacher; 4-A and 5-B, of which Mrs. Gray is the teacher, and the opportunity room, of which Miss Hopkins is the teacher. The 4-B class from Mrs. Carpenter's room carried as its slogan "Clean Teeth," and while marching sang a motion song, "Did You Ever See a Lassie Do This Way and That " demonstrating the proper way to use the toothbrush.

Next in Line

Next in line of march were the 3-A and 3-B classes, from the room of Mrs. Elsie Harwood, dressed in costumes and carrying as their slogan "Work While You Work" and "Play While You Play." The 2-A and 3-B classes from Miss Dyke's room had the slogan "Clean Teeth," while the 2-B and 2-A children from Miss Hall's room chose as their slogan "Clean Hands and a Clean Face."

Following these were the 1-A and 2-B from the rooms of Miss Marjorie Townsend and Miss Olive Hutchison, their banners being "Safety First" and "A Bath a Day Keeps Danger Away." The 1-B's from Miss Dunn's room marched single-file, each wearing a letter spelling out the words of their slogan, "Early to Bed and Early to Rise." Leading the 1-B class from Miss Christensen's room were "The Farmers in the Dell," together with their wives, the nurse and all their paraphernalia, and bringing up the rear were the children from the kindergarten, each of whom wore self-made paper soldier caps and carried a small American flag. They were accompanied by their teachers, Miss Loeb and Miss Ulrich.

The past week has been very interesting at the school, a committee of mothers of the Parent-Teacher association having been at the school each day during the week to welcome all visitors.

Frisco Seizes Car-Load Of 'Olive Oil' Alcohol

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Nov. 22.—A box car load of alcohol, labeled "olive oil" and consigned to San Francisco from Brooklyn, N. Y., valued at $180,000, was seized by Sheriff P. A. Lainson and his deputies in the Union Pacific railroad yards here late yesterday. The liquor was packed in wooden cases, each case containing two five-gallon cans.

FINANCIAL BRIEFS

By Southland News Service

Charles Schwab, noted financier whose word is taken in business circles as well as the steel industry as equal to any, declares the United States is due for its greatest period of prosperity with business on the firmest foundation he has ever seen.

Bucyrus company declared an extra dividend yesterday of 6 per cent on accounts of back dividends due on preferred, in addition to its regular quarterly dividends. Radio Corporation of America also declared a quarterly dividend, the directors failing to discuss a rumored disbursement on common shares.

Stiffer money rates and a more limited supply of speculative capital with a decline in investment bonds is forecast shortly as a result of the expansion of the New York market and enormous bull trading which has completely upset the morale of the tickers and wire services trying to keep pace with the sales.

Favorable picking weather, including the Imperial valley of California where a third picking is reported in progress, is doing much to bolster the cotton supply, although the lint in the south Atlantic states is shorter than usual as a result of drouth following a late wet spring.

LEGION NOTES

Nomination of candidates for officers of Glendale post No. 127, American Legion, will be made at the meeting next Friday night, and the election will take place on December 2, it was announced at the meeting held last night at the Legion hall, 610 East Broadway. Commander Joseph A. Wilson presided last night.

The value of co-operation between the youths of the city and the grown-ups in the matter of education was told by Rex Morthland of the Wilson Intermediate school. The youth was highly commended by members of the post on his address. Norman Whytock, principal of Glendale Intermediate school, and a member of the post, spoke on education.

Adjutant Hume and Past Commander Hardey of Monrovia post were visitors last night and spoke on the policies of the Monrovia organization. They announced members of the Monrovia post would visit other posts during the winter.

James F. McBryde appealed to the members of the local organization to assist in the Community Chest drive. The post voted to aid various organizations in the work of preparing and delivering Christmas boxes to the wounded veterans at Sawtelle.

OFFICE MANAGER HOST TO WORKERS

A. H. Voelker Entertains for Employes of Meline Co., Musical Program

A. H. Voelker, office manager of the Frank Meline Co., acted as host to employes and their families at the office of the company, 227 South Brand boulevard, Thursday night. After the program dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

Frank Turpie, of the business property department, tenor, sang. Mr. Turpie had contemplated studying music in Europe to fit himself for the opera stage, but says the lure of Glendale real estate business holds him here. William Christy gave an exhibition of magic. The Meline quartet, composed of William Parks, Walter Vaughn, Frank Turpie and Paul Haskins, rendered several selections.

Refreshments were served buffet style, after which the Christy sisters played a piano duet. Mrs. Marice Root rendered several classical piano selections. J. King Edwards, sr., sales manager of the Meline organization, was master of ceremonies. The office was decorated with flowers. Musical instruments were furnished by the Glendale Music Co. Among those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. William Parks and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Haskins, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rushforth, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Broene, Lynne Alley, Miss Edna O'Mealy, Mrs. Hazel B. Pearson and son, Mr. and Mrs. William Christy, J. King Ewing, sr., A. H. Voelker, Mrs. and Miss Root, Myron Runyan, Mrs. Marlowe, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turpie, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Landes, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gibbings, Ward Lindermood and Miss Chandler.
